Introduction

Prior to becoming a member of an Incorporation, each prospective member had to become a Burgess either as a Near Hand or a Far Hand. A Near Hand member was one whose parents or in-laws were burgesses and hence it was necessary to record the way a person was becoming a Burgess.

The initial records that were available was the Roll books in the Trades House Office but in 2023 the Glasgow Records were found to be available on the www.familysearch.org website and these proved to have a lot more information than had been previously available. A process of transcribing these records commenced and was completed in January 2024.

The following links will take users to the appropriate area of the Family Search website. It is necessary to become a member of the Family Search to use the website, but there is no charge for this:

Glasgow. Occupation Records 1857–1876 • FamilySearch
Glasgow. Occupation Records 1876–1889 • FamilySearch
Glasgow. Occupation Records 1889–1899 • FamilySearch
Glasgow. Occupation Records 1899–1904 • FamilySearch

Pages can be easily downloaded from any of the above locations, but it is impossible to do a search and that is why the Archives Team have transcribed the information.

Another area that the people have asked the Archives Team for assistance with, is the cost of becoming a Burgess in the past.

The following locations on the www.FamiltSearch.org website gives this information:

Glasgow. Court Records 1846–1883 • FamilySearch
Glasgow. Court Records 1884–1892 • FamilySearch
Glasgow. Court Records 1892–1906 • FamilySearch

Lastly for the details of Burgesses in alphabetical order please visit:

We have a great deal to thank www.familysearch.org and the Mitchell Library for making these records available.
