Clan Donald

1914-1918

At the Call of Duty

From the Four Corners of the Earth came the Children of the Clan to battle for the Right.

In many graves in many lands their gallant bodies sleep
Their spirits rest with GOD.

To their loved ones, bereaved of them, this Roll proclaims the price the Clan hath paid. A Token it is also, bringing pride to lighten grief for lives so well laid down.

For this we know: They yet shall live again.

Preface

The Committee entrusted with the production of the Clan "Roll of Honour," in presenting their work to the public, feel that they have, at least, done something to preserve the record of the Clan in the Great War.

In limiting the records to the names of those who made the supreme sacrifice and of those who gained honours for their services, the members of the Committee were influenced, not by their feelings, but by the severely practical aspect of the work.

It would have been a source of great satisfaction to them to have been able to place on record the names of all clansfolk who served, but when it is considered that there were some 40,000 of these, drawn to every branch of the Service from all quarters of the globe, it will be recognised that such a work was beyond the resources of voluntary effort.

It is not, therefore, pretended that the Roll is a complete one. Indeed, a complete Roll of the Children of Clan Donald who served in the War is well nigh an impossibility. One has only to read the works of some of the historians, and learn something of the vast ramification of the Clan and its septs, in order to realise that without very large financial resources or widespread voluntary effort and expert assistance, such a work could not be contemplated.

No effort has been spared to ensure accuracy within the limits of the Roll. The information included under each entry has been given as it appears in the official records which, unfortunately, are lacking in details in not a few instances. Notwithstanding many precautions, errors and omissions may have occurred, and if there should be any such it is hoped they will be forgiven.

It remains to record the Committee's sincere thanks and gratitude to all those Departments and individuals who have placed their resources at its disposal, and especially to those clansfolk who contributed financially to the original fund which enabled the work to be undertaken.

JAMES H. MACDONALD,
Chairman of Committee.

Historical Foreword

Part One

IN preserving for all time a record of Clansmen of Clan Donald who gave their lives for their Country in the Great European War and of those whose distinguished services were rewarded by honours bestowed upon them, it is appropriate that some notice should be taken of the traditions to which they were heir and which, no doubt unconsciously in many instances, inspired their valour.

The Clan system with its internal feuds, and continual struggle for existence, formed an excellent school of Military Training, and from the earliest period of its history the Clan Donald had many distinguished warriors at its head and in the ranks. The Clan derives its origin from very ancient sources, and its history, from Conn of the Hundred Battles and Colla Uais down to Somerled of the Isles, whose military genius wrested the Isles from their Scandinavian conquerors and restored the Celtic influence which was then well nigh extinguished, is a history of battle.

From the time of Somerled to the present day there has never been a lack of distinguished clansmen who have taken part in the wars of their period, and the names of Angus Og, Donald of Harlaw and Alistair MacColla, Montrose's great Lieutenant, are imperishable names in Scottish History.

It is almost impossible to estimate the importance of Somerled in the history of the Clan and of Gaeldom. Without him there would have been no Celtic Lordship of the Isles, and the great heritage of Gaelic Poetry and Music which has come down to us would probably have been lost for ever.

The fortunes of Somerled's family had fallen to a low ebb as a consequence of the Norse occupation of the Isles, and about the middle of the 12th Century we find him living with his father in the wilds of Morven, apparently an unambitious young man. The men of the Isles were in revolt against the tyrannies of their Scandinavian rulers when a combination of circumstances placed Somerled at their head. By his genius many victories were won. He followed up his victories and in a very short time made himself master of the mainland territories of his ancestors and assumed the title of Thane of Argyll.

Soon afterwards Somerled had consolidated his position so well that he was able to throw down the gauntlet to Godred, the Norwegian King of the Isles, and in a great naval battle off the coast of Isla on the night of Epiphany 1156 A.D. he gained a victory sufficient to assure to him, in a treaty of peace with Godred, possession of the whole of the Isles south of the point of Ardnamurchan along with Kintyre. The treaty of peace did not last very long and two years later we find Somerled invading Man with a fleet of 53 galleys. He routed Godred, laid the island waste, and held Man during his lifetime.

It was scarcely to be expected that the rise in power of Somerled could be viewed otherwise than with feelings of alarm by the Kingdom of Scotland, and so there were dissensions. It is difficult to judge whether Somerled had made up his mind to make a bold bid to establish Celtic rule over the whole country or whether he was only defending his hard-won territory, but it is certain that in 1164 he gathered a great army of 15,000 men and with a fleet of 160 galleys sailed up the Clyde to Greenock, where he disembarked. He marched to Renfrew, where the King's army was encamped. It does not appear that a battle of any consequence was fought, but Somerled's death was encompassed. It is the tradition of the Clan that Somerled was treacherously slain in his tent by one of his own attendants and that he was buried in the Monastery of Saddell.

After the death of Somerled his followers dispersed and returned to their native isles; but his family remained in undisturbed possession of the vast territories he had won with his sword. He was succeeded in part of his possessions by his son, Reginald, who reigned peacefully until 1207, when he died and was succeeded by his son, Donald of Isla, from whom the Clan takes its name.

Donald was not by any means of so peace-loving a nature as his father, and we find him engaging in raiding expeditions to Ireland and assisting in rebellions against the King of Scotland. It is said that after a stormy career he went on a pilgrimage to Rome and did penance for his sins. Having obtained absolution from the Pope, he enriched the Church with many gifts of lands. He died at Skipness about the year 1249.

A very interesting period of the Clan history is next entered. Angus Mor, who succeeded Donald, was chief at the time of Haco's expedition and assisted him throughout the war, although it does not appear that he suffered either in person or in property in consequence of the treaty afterwards arranged by the Kings of Norway and of Scotland. In 1284 he attended the Convention which declared the Maid of Norway heiress to the Scottish Crown, and he received a grant of land in Ardnamurchan. He is said to have been of an amiable disposition, and was greatly mourned when he died in the year 1300. His son, Alexander, who succeeded him had a short reign of 3 years, and having joined John of Lorne in his opposition to Bruce, became involved in the downfall of that family. His possessions were forfeited to the Crown of Scotland, but after his death in 1303 they were granted to his brother, Angus Og, who succeeded him.

Angus Og remained the steady friend of Bruce and accompanied him to the field of Bannockburn, where with his islesmen, he contributed largely to the victory which won Scotland her independence for ever. He received many favours from the King, and at the time of his death in 1329 passed on a great inheritance to his son, John of Isla.

This John was one of the most notable chiefs of the Clan, and although the times were not such as to give him the good fortune to take part in an epoch-making battle like Bannockburn he, nevertheless, played a great part in the troublous times that followed the death of the Bruce. We find him in diplomatic relations with the King of England and supporting the Baliol faction, and later we find him accompanying the Scottish contingent, with a strong force of Islesmen, to support the King of France against England. He was engaged at the Battle of Poitiers, where he had the misfortune to be taken prisoner, being confined some time in England until liberated. By his marriage with his third cousin, Amy MacRuari, he acquired lands she obtained at the death of her brother, Ranald, who was murdered at the monastery of Elcho near Perth in 1346, and by uniting these to his own territories he raised the Clan to a position of splendour not reached since the days of Somerled.

Here we must pause to record the weakness in John's character which at bottom was responsible for the ruin of the Clan and sowed the seeds of all the internal controversy which has lasted until our own day. John allowed his ambitions to overrule his sense of honour and, succumbing to the wiles of Robert the Steward, he was induced to divorce his lawful wife, Amy MacRuari, and to contract an alliance with Margaret, the daughter of Robert. No doubt John was dazzled by the splendour of the alliance, and during the remainder of his life he was in close relationship with the Crown and remained so until his death in 1380, when he was buried with great pomp and splendour in Iona. The death of John of Isla may be said to have completed a period in the annals of the Clan which it has been found expedient to deal with as a whole rather than by dwelling at length upon the achievements of individuals who gained reputations for military ability, but the history of the Clan from then until the practical extinction of the Clan system after the rising of 1745 is of such a nature that, in a sketch like this, it must be subordinated to the personal history of some of the more prominent members.

Donald, the eldest son of John of Isla by the marriage with Margaret Stewart, succeeded his father in the chiefship of the Clan, with the acquiescence of his half brothers, the sons of Amy MacRuari, and was "crowned" MacDonald and Lord of the Isles in the Island of Eigg in the midst of a great gathering of the Clan and the vassals of the Isles. His firm and generous rule made him popular among the Clan and his dependents, and he was ever ready to assert and uphold the position and independence of the Clan, owing no loyalty to the Scottish Crown. During the years following his succession the relations between Scotland and England were strained, and we find Donald and several of the more important of his relatives frequent visitors at the English Court.

It is not necessary here to enlarge upon the causes which led the island chief to lay claim to the Earldom of Ross and to enter upon the campaign which culminated in the Battle of Harlaw, fought on the 26th June, 1411. The facts are well recorded in history and are easily accessible to those interested. Suffice it to say that the fiery cross was sent round, and the whole Clan with its vassals rallied to the fight. The MacLeans and MacKinnons, Camerons and MacIntoshes, and MacLeods from Harris all hastened to the rendezvous at Ardtornish, and the army of about 10,000 set sail for the west coast of Ross, where they disembarked at Stromeferry. Marching through the glens to Dingwall, they were there opposed by Angus Dubh MacKay, and a fierce engagement ensued. The MacKays fought with all their accustomed bravery but were decisively routed, Angus himself being taken prisoner, while his brother and many of their foremost men were killed. MacDonald took possession of the Castle of Dingwall, garrisoned it, and resumed his march, proceeding to Inverness by Beauly. Here he halted, and diverting his line of march to Castle Dounie, administered a chastisement to Lovat and his Frasers, who had opposed his claim to the Earldom of Ross. Having reached Inverness he planted his standard there, and summoning all the fighting men of Ross and the North to his banner, he prepared for his great campaign. Many rallied to Donald's standard, the only chiefs of note standing out being MacKenzie and Lovat. The former was of little account, but Lovat fought against Donald at the Battle of Harlaw.

Donald was quite well aware that although in actual possession of the Earldom of Ross he was not likely to remain undisturbed in his acquisition, and as he had threatened in his quarrel with the Regent to burn Aberdeen, he proceeded through Moray with the intention of carrying out his threat. But the gentlemen of Aberdeen were not disposed to sit quietly under the threat, and with their armed retainers, they assembled under the Earl of Mar.

Mar advanced by Inverury and came into contact with the Highland Army at Harlaw. His force was much smaller than Donald's, but this disadvantage was offset by its good equipment and strong defensive armour. There is no need to enter into a description of the battle further than to say it was waged with great fury and valour on both sides, and the lowland army was practically annihilated. The Earl of Mar himself lay wounded with hundreds of his dead lying round him, and many notable leaders were slain on both sides.

Much controversy has been indulged in about the Battle of Harlaw, and it would be useless here to enter into the causes which prevented Donald from following up his victory and pursuing his claims to the Earldom of Ross. He returned to the Isles where his position was impregnable, and the next time we hear of him is in a domestic quarrel with his brother, John Mor Tainistear, whom he defeated and hunted out of the Isles into Ireland. The brothers were afterwards reconciled. Donald was one of the most distinguished Chiefs of the Clan; he was both soldier and Statesman, and he maintained the best traditions of the Clan and kept untainted in peace and in war the name of MacDonald.

We have next to notice the career of Donald Balloch, son of John Mor Tainistear, one of the most distinguished warriors of his race. Alexander of Isla had succeeded Donald of Harlaw in the Lordship of the Isles, and shortly after his accession James I. was released from his captivity in England and restored to his ancestral throne of Scotland in 1424. During his reign the Clan had again occasion to take the field. The murder of John Mor Tainistear by James Campbell was deeply resented by many of the powerful Scottish families, and the King could not be absolved from participation in that treacherous deed although he had Campbell tried and hanged. The assassination of the Highland Chiefs at Inverness, where they had been summoned to a meeting of the northern Nobles, and the imprisonment of Alexander, Lord of the Isles, and his mother, the titular Countess of Ross, added additional fuel to the fire. Alexander was not detained very long in custody, and is said to have received admonition for past delinquencies and been liberated on promise of amendment. No sooner did he return to the Isles than the standard of revolt was again raised, and, collecting 10,000 men from the Isles and the Earldom of Ross, he selected Lochaber, the country of Alistair Carrach, as his base, and marched to Inverness where he burned and wasted the Crown lands in the vicinity but failed to storm the Castle. James was thoroughly roused at this, and his army pursued Alexander into Lochaber. The rapid approach of the Royal army was followed by disaffection among the MacIntoshes and Camerons, two of the most powerful vassals of the Isles. These circumstances rendered defeat inevitable, and Alexander was drawn further south and finally he had to appear at Holyrood to sue for pardon. He was pardoned but made a prisoner in Tantallon Castle.

The whole Clan bitterly resented this, and it was resolved to strike a blow for honour and vengeance. Donald Balloch, Alexander's young cousin, had already gained reputation as a leader, and now summoned the whole strength of the Clan. The Royal army, whose function it was to maintain order in the Highlands, was encamped in Lochaber under the Earls of Mar and Caithness. Once again the Earl of Mar was to meet the Clan Donald in battle and suffer the bitterness of defeat. Relying upon the superior arming and discipline of his army, Mar made the fatal mistake of underrating his enemy, and was playing cards with MacIntosh in his tent while Donald was disposing his forces to the greatest advantage. Disembarking his forces two miles south of Inverlochy, Donald had taken up a strong position in front of the King's forces, while the Keppoch MacDonalds, under Alistair Carrach, took up a position on the steep hill overlooking the Castle. When the signal was given the Keppochs charged with irresistible fury down the hill while Donald and his Islesmen attacked in front with such ferocity that in a very short time the King's forces were completely routed, leaving a large number of dead upon the field, including the Earl of Caithness and sixteen of his personal retinue and many Knights and Barons from the Lowlands. The Earl of Mar himself was wounded, and with a single attendant took to the hills, where he was befriended and assisted to escape by an Irishman named O'Birrin.

Donald then proceeded to plunder the lands of the Camerons and MacIntoshes in revenge for their disaffection to the Island Chief, then, learning that the King was advancing upon Lochaber with a powerful army, he returned to the Isles with much booty and took ship to his Irish territories.

The next time Donald took the field was on behalf of the Douglas cause, and a brief account of the events that led to this expedition will not be amiss. In October of the year 1431 the heir to the Scottish Crown—afterwards James II.—was born and, in the general rejoicings at the event, an amnesty was granted to some political delinquents, among whom was Alexander, Lord of the Isles. He was restored to his titles, dignities and possessions, although it would not appear that he entered fully into his Earldom of Ross during the lifetime of James the First. During the remainder of his reign as Island Chief, the Clan and the Highlands generally seem to have enjoyed an unusual period of peace and prosperity, and he ruled wisely and firmly. The idea of an independent Celtic kingdom was, however, strong in the MacDonald blood, and in 1445 he entered into the league with the Earls of Douglas and Crawford, which had for its purpose the overthrow of Stewart rule in Scotland. It does not appear that Alexander took any definite steps to forward the cause of this league, and before matters came to a head he died at his castle of Dingwall, and was buried in the Chanonry of Ross on the 8th May, 1449.

James I. was murdered at Perth on the 21st February, 1437, and during the long minority of his son the great feudal Barons of Scotland lost no opportunity of endeavouring to recover some of the power and prestige of which the policy of James I. had deprived them. To the north of the Forth the Earl of Crawford was the most formidable potentate of the time, and in the Counties of Perth, Angus and Kincardine he exercised an influence which made him the terror of his neighbours. The moving spirits in the Lowlands were the Douglasses, Livingstones and Crichtons, and the gradual ascendancy of the first left them in such a powerful state as to be of themselves a menace to the Scottish throne. It will be seen that such a league was very powerful, but it brought the most disastrous results to the members. John de Ile, who had succeeded to the Lordship of the Isles and the Earldom of Ross, had not been long in power when there began the struggle for supremacy between the house of Douglas and the house of Stewart. In 1450 Douglas, with a magnificent and numerous train, set out on a pilgrimage to Rome. During his absence disturbance occurred in his domains, and James II. took measures to suppress these. He entered the Douglas territory and laid siege to various strongholds, slew many freeholders, and pardoned others on their taking oath of fealty. Douglas returned to Scotland in April, 1451, and although James continued his efforts against him and demolished Douglas Crag, a small fortress in Ettrick Forest, a reconciliation took place in the same year. It was short lived, however, and culminated in the murder of Douglas by the King on 21st February, 1452. The young Lord of the Isles summoned his vassals, and at the head of a large army marched to Inverness and took the castle, which he garrisoned. He proceeded to Urquhart, and laid siege to the castle which was held for the King. After a short but gallant resistance the garrison succumbed, and John appointed his father-in-law, Livingstone, as governor. John, emboldened by success, marched through Moray to Castle Ruthven, which he burned to the ground. The King was too much occupied in his efforts to suppress Douglas to devote attention to John, although there is no doubt that he contemplated proceeding north to suppress the rising there. In the meantime, however, John and his Clansmen remained immune from James's vengeance, holding their power in the Highlands, and enlivening their days with "creachs" against the MacKenzies, MacKays, and Sutherlands.

The struggle between the Douglasses and Stewarts ended in the defeat of the former at Arkinholme, and Douglas was declared traitor. He betook himself to Argyllshire, where he was received by Donald Balloch at the Castle of Dunstaffnage. Here they were joined by the Lord of the Isles who had come down from the North, and they agreed to make another effort against James. Douglas crossed to England, where he was cordially received by the Duke of York, while MacDonald prepared for an invasion of the King's lands. He collected a fleet of 100 galleys and a force of 5,000 men, and placed Donald Balloch in command. Donald proceeded to Inverkip, where he landed his army, and carried fire and sword into the heart of Ayrshire. He met with little resistance and carried away an immense booty. Returning to Inverkip he directed his course to Arran, where he attacked Brodick Castle, burning it to the ground. He invaded the Cumbraes and Bute, and having taken the castle of Rothesay, made himself master of Bute. He concluded this expedition by an attack on the Bishop of Lismore, who had made himself obnoxious by affixing his seal to the forfeiture of the Douglasses, and after having killed most of his attendants, forced the Bishop to take refuge in a sanctuary which scarcely protected him from the fury of his enemies. The expedition of Donald Balloch failed in its purpose of fortifying the Douglas cause, and the suppression of the family and the banishment of the Earl is familiar history.

The Lord of the Isles, finding himself alone in his opposition, made his peace with James, and we find him during the rest of James's lifetime in close contact with the Scottish Court and employed by the King in various capacities, the principal object of these being to keep him as far from the Isles as possible.

It is of the greatest importance to those interested in the history of the Clan to observe closely the position of the Clan at the time of which we write. Although divided a little as the result of the two marriages of John of Isla, the Clan was still a unity and the possessions held by the principal families were a noble patrimony, and it would have been well for themselves and their posterity had they held themselves aloof from the quarrels and intrigues of the Scottish nobility. The Celtic tradition was deep in their blood, however, and always at the back of their minds was the idea of an independent Celtic kingdom. They owed no real loyalty to the reigning family of Scotland and were ever ready to seize any opportunity to further their idea of independence. The time now seemed favourable, and we must consider the events that led to the "Treaty of Ardtornish."

The untimely death of James II. at the siege of Roxburgh once more plunged Scotland into the difficulties inherent upon a minority. The banished Earl of Douglas, in exile at the English Court, watched with deepest interest the course of events in Scotland and left no means unused by which he could regain the co-operation of the Lord of the Isles. He gained the ear of Edward IV., and overtures were made to the Island Lord by commissioners from England which resulted in the "Treaty of Ardtornish."

The provisions of this treaty were that the Lords of the Isles were to become vassals of England, and to assist Edward IV. in his wars in Ireland and elsewhere.

In the event of the conquest of Scotland the portion of the kingdom north of the Forth was to be divided between the Earl of Ross and Donald Balloch, while Douglas was to be restored to his estates in the south. There can be no doubt that the Celtic fervour and fiery spirit of Donald Balloch on the one hand and earnest entreaties of the Douglas on the other were the most powerful influences operating upon John and the Council of the Isles when they consented to the signing of the treaty.

The treaty was big with the fate of the Clan, and there is no doubt that the existence of it caused the final forfeiture of the Lordship of the Isles thirty years later.

The provisions of the treaty implied action, and almost at once the forces of the Isles were on the move. First in command was Angus Og, son of John, scarcely more than a youth, and second the veteran, Donald Balloch, now past his prime but still a formidable warrior. They marched to Inverness, took possession of the town and Castle, and in the name of the Earl of Ross assumed royal powers over the northern counties, commanding the Government officers and the people to obey Angus Og and to pay to him, as his father's lieutenant, the taxes that were payable to the Crown. Thus did the Lord of the Isles begin his attempt to carry out the provisions of the treaty and, if Edward IV. had been in a position to give the support promised, the history of Scotland might have been changed. But Edward was unable to despatch any forces, the scheme for the division of Scotland failed, and the rising collapsed.

The particulars of this rising are very meagre and no very clear idea of how it ended can be formed, but we know that the island Lord was summoned to appear before Parliament for treason, but failed to appear, and the process of forfeiture against him was suspended for some time. He did not receive an unconditional pardon, although allowed to continue in undisturbed possession of his vast estates for about fifteen years after this period. Of the subsequent career of Donald Balloch there is nothing of importance to relate, and notwithstanding his strenuous and stormy career he lived to an advanced age, and died in Isla.

The power of the MacDonalds was now waning, and the Treaty of Ardtornish came to light in 1475. The Lord of the Isles was again summoned to appear before Parliament to answer to the charge of treason and, failing to appear, the Earl of Argyll was given commission to prosecute a decree of forfeiture against him. That this was no idle threat was soon apparent, and a formidable force by land and sea was prepared to carry the sentence of Parliament into effect. The extent of the preparations and the persuasions of his friends induced the island Lord to sue for pardon which the King granted, and in the Parliament held at Edinburgh on 1st July, 1476, John was restored to his forfeited Earldom of Ross and the Lordship of the Isles.

He then came forward and made a voluntary resignation to the Crown of the Earldom of Ross, the lands of Knapdale and Kintyre, and the castles, etc., belonging to these, and in return was created a Baron Banrente and Peer of Parliament with the title of Lord of the Isles. By favour of the King the natural sons of John, Angus and John, were secured in the succession of the new title and the estates connected with it.

The surrender of the Earldom of Ross and the lands of Knapdale and Kintyre was the first great blow struck at the power of the MacDonalds and made John very unpopular with the chief families, who further accused him of impoverishing the Clan by improvident grants of lands to the MacLeans, MacLeods, MacNeils and other Clans. Angus the heir, who had married Argyll's daughter, sided with the Clan, and thus the adherents of the Lordship came to be divided into two factions, those of the blood abiding by Angus while the Clans who had benefited by the old Lord's generosity adhered to him. The development of this family quarrel is a sorrowful chapter in MacDonald history, and hastened the final forfeiture. Angus behaved with great violence to his father and involved himself in various feuds, particularly with the MacKenzies. He invaded Ross and defeated the MacKenzies at Logebread with great slaughter, and the rising appeared so formidable that it is said the Government employed the Earls of Atholl, Argyll, Crawford and Huntly to reduce Angus to obedience. He appears to have been forced to retire from Ross and to return to the Isles, where Argyll and Atholl procured an interview between him and his father in the hope of effecting a reconciliation. This failed, and the breach was further widened by the defeat of the followers of the old Lord in a desperate battle in a bay near Tobermory. This battle is still known as the Battle of Bloody Bay.

Soon after this event the Earl of Atholl crossed over to Isla and carried off the infant son of Angus, Donald Dubh, whom he delivered into the hands of the Earl of Argyll. Donald Dubh was considered a captive of great importance by Argyll and kept closely guarded in the Castle of Inchconnell in Lochow.

The abduction of his son raised Angus to a perfect frenzy of rage, and summoning his adherents to his standard, he sailed with his forces to Inverlochy. Landing there he made a swift and secret march into the district of Atholl, which he ravaged by fire and sword. His descent had been so rapid that the inhabitants were unable to offer any effective resistance, and the Earl of Atholl and his Countess together with many of the country people took refuge in the Chapel of St. Bride. Even this sanctuary did not protect them from the rage of Angus, for he slew many of the people and carried off an immense booty to the Isles, and took with him the Earl and Countess of Atholl as prisoners. On the return voyage to the Isles the expedition encountered a violent storm in which many of the galleys were sunk and much of the sacrilegious plunder lost. The effect of this loss so wrought upon the superstitious feelings of Angus that he liberated his prisoners very soon thereafter without even securing the release of his son, and he performed penance in the very chapel he had so lately desecrated.

Angus's career was drawing to a close, for soon afterwards, when he was in Inverness on his way to attack his old enemies, the MacKenzies, he was assassinated by an Irish harper. With all his faults, Angus was a favourite with the Clansmen, who had hoped that he was destined to regain all that his father had lost.

The old Lord now resumed possession of the estates out of which he had been kept by Angus, and his younger son, John, dying without issue, succession of the Lordship fell to his nephew, Alexander of Lochalsh. It has been said that Alexander merely acted as guardian to Donald Dubh, still a prisoner in Inchconnell, but this is improbable. He placed himself at the head of the vassals of the Isles and engaged in an abortive attempt to recover possession of the Earldom of Ross. That he did so with the consent of his uncle may or may not have been the case, but the old Lord had to bear the consequences. No doubt the Scottish Parliament were glad to have the opportunity of striking such an effective blow at the Highlands and Isles, and we have to record the fact that in the Parliament of 1493, John, fourth and last Lord of the Isles, was forfeited of his title and estates.

Thus fell the great house of MacDonald, which for centuries had borne the proud title of "Lord of the Isles." The fall of the Lordship of the Isles caused tremendous changes in the Highlands and Isles, and may be said to have been the final turning point in the struggle between the Celtic and Feudal systems in Scotland. Never again were the whole forces of the vassals of the Island Lordship to assemble under the proud banner, and the division of the Clan was to be further accentuated. The rise to power and position of the branches was to be accompanied by the decline and virtual final extinction of the main stem. It is a fascinating study to follow the rise to power and independence of the Clans that were formerly vassals of the House of Isla, and with the decline of that house to observe the progress of its great rival, the House of Argyll.

In the years following the forfeiture in 1493 till the death of Donald Dubh in 1545 various attempts were made to recover the family honours. In 1497 Sir Alexander of Lochalsh invaded Ross-shire without much success and, leaving there, proceeded southwards among the Isles in an endeavour to rouse the Islanders on his behalf. The effort failed through the dissensions among the Clans, and MacIain of Ardnamurchan, anxious to propitiate himself with the King, surprised Lochalsh in the Island of Oronsay and put him to death.

Notwithstanding the efforts of James IV. to pacify the Clans, there was much discontent among them and a considerable body of them looked upon Donald Dubh, still a prisoner in Inchconnell, as the rightful heir to the throne of his ancestors, and determined upon his release. In 1503 a party of Glencoe men broke into the castle and liberated Donald, whom they conveyed in triumph to the castle of Torquill MacLeod in Lewis. He was proclaimed MacDonald and Lord of the Isles, many of the old vassals rallied to his standard, and formidable attempts were made for the recovery of the Lordship. The power of the Scots King was too great to be shaken, and the efforts failed. Donald Dubh was surrendered to the King by MacLean of Douart and sent to Edinburgh Castle, there to be confined a prisoner for nearly forty years.

The next attempt was by Donald Gallda, son of Alexander of Lochalsh who was done to death by MacIain of Ardnamurchan. Sir Donald had been brought up at Court in Edinburgh, is said to have been a favourite of the King, and to have been knighted on the fatal field of Flodden. However that may be, he proceeded to the Highlands soon after that memorable battle, and at once raised the standard of revolt. He seized the castle of Urquhart and laid waste the adjacent lands. MacLean of Douart seized the castle of Carneburgh, and with the assistance of MacLeod of Dunvegan made himself master of Dunscaigh in Skye. Sir Donald was then proclaimed Lord of the Isles, and the number of his followers increased daily. The Regent Albany, alarmed at the formidable aspect of the revolt, gave commission to MacIain of Ardnamurchan to treat with the enemy, and a reconciliation was effected.

The Regent and Donald appeared to be on good terms, but the latter had not abandoned his project, and soon was in revolt again. He invaded Ardnamurchan, expelled MacIain, and razed the castle of Mingarry to the ground. In his feud with MacIain he seems to have allowed his desire for revenge on his father's murderer to obscure his principal purpose, and this caused dissension among his followers, many of whom fell away from him and indeed determined to deliver him up to the Regent. Sir Donald, however, escaped and, with the assistance of the MacLeods of Lewis and Alexander MacDonald of Isla, proceeded against MacIain. They came upon him in Morven, where a battle was fought. MacIain was defeated and slain along with his two sons and a considerable number of his followers. Shortly after this Donald died, and the revolt which had lasted five years died out.

It was not until 1539 that another attempt was made for the recovery of the Lordship of the Isles. The hero of this exploit is Donald Gruamach of Sleat. The Lochalsh family had died out with Sir Donald Gallda and, with Donald Dubh still a prisoner, Donald Gruamach seized the opportunity to make his claim to the family honours and possessions. He had the support of many of the principal families and clans, and he invaded Trotternish, laying the country waste. He then proceeded to invade Wester Ross and to lay siege to the castle of Eilean Donan, but, it is said, was slain in front of the castle by an arrow shot from the walls. There are many legends connected with this expedition, but these do not pertain to our treatise.

The final stand for the revival of the Celtic kingdom now falls to be considered. The course of events in Scotland was not going too well for the Country, and after the disgraceful conduct of his army at Solway Moss, James V. died virtually of a broken heart. The hold of the Scottish Government on the Isles weakened, and in a very short time after the death of the King, Donald Dubh made his escape from Edinburgh Castle and found his way to his native Isles. He had been proclaimed Lord of the Isles on his previous escape from Inchconnell and now laid claim to the Earldom of Ross. The events which followed are well known in Scottish history, and may be briefly summarised here. Donald proceeded with much caution until such time as the Regent Arran liberated the Highland Chiefs whom James V. had carried away from the Highlands and imprisoned. Practically all these joined Donald with their Clans, and, assembling to the number of 1,800 men, they invaded Argyll's territory, slaying a large number of men and carrying away many cattle and much plunder. It is not possible here to enter minutely into all the circumstances which induced Donald to enter into an alliance with the English party and Henry VIII., having for its purpose the invasion and subjection of Scotland. Let it be said at once that Donald owed no loyalty to the realm of Scotland which had treated him cruelly, and he was making a bold bid for the kingdom of his ancestors.

Practically the whole of the Clans of the Isles rallied to his standard, and he sailed for Knockfergus in Ireland with a force of four thousand men and one hundred and eighty galleys there to join with the other troops for the invasion.

Events in England, however, prevented the fusion of the forces for some time, and discontent at the delay breaking out among his followers, Donald returned to the Isles. Many of the Chiefs withdrew their followers and returned to their castles. Donald was, however, prepared to keep his bond and kept in touch with Lennox, but the fall of Dumbarton Castle, by treachery, into the hands of the Regent, forced Lennox to return to Ireland. Donald is said to have accompanied Lennox to Ireland for the purpose of raising more men, but died at Drogheda of a fever.

Donald was the last of his line, and with his death was extinguished the hope of restoration of the MacDonald kingdom.

It is significant of the deep-rooted persistence of the idea of the restoration of the Celtic kingdom that in 1598 we find Donald Gorm MacDonald of Sleat offering to serve Queen Elizabeth in the Irish wars and styling himself Lord of the Isles of Scotland and Chief of the Clan Donnell Irishmen, and giving a long list of petty Island Princes and Chiefs who were ready to follow him upon all his enterprises.

Part Two

The death of Donald Dubh put an end to the hopes of a recovery of the Lordship of the Isles, and there was no further attempt made for that purpose. The Clans attached to the Lordship and the different branches of the MacDonalds became more and more estranged from each other and applied all their resources to the establishing of their own power and influence as independent units.

In consequence of this division the further history of the Clan is really to be found in the chronicles of the various families and in the general history of the country. These family chronicles are voluminous and of absorbing interest to all who bear the name or have a MacDonald connection, but to deal adequately with them is far beyond the scope of this sketch.

Although the Clan never again took the field under its own banner, the MacDonalds took a prominent part in many of the notable events in the history of the country.

The story of the great struggle of the Dunnyveg family for the retention of its territory in the North of Ireland against the aggressions of the native Clan of the O'Neills and the English invaders in the time of Mary Queen of Scots and Elizabeth of England is one of the most fascinating pieces of Celtic history, and the triumph of later years which resulted in the founding of the family of the Earls of Antrim is in strange contrast with the fate of the senior branch of the family in Scotland. A long-continued series of feuds with the MacLeans of Douart over lands in Isla and elsewhere, resulting in many bloody encounters; the grasping hand of the Argyll family with its genius for political intrigue, and the hostility of King James VI., resulted in the confiscation of most of the lands of this branch of the MacDonalds and its virtual extinction as a territorial family.

The Clan had a notable part in the campaigns of Montrose and Dundee in the revolutionary and Covenanting times. All the branches were engaged, Sleat, Glengarry, Clanranald, Keppoch, Glencoe, but the most picturesque figure of the time is Alistair MacCholla, of the Dunnyveg family, Montrose's great Chief of Staff.

Before giving a brief account of the part taken by the Clan in these campaigns it would seem appropriate to consider the position of the various families in 1639 prior to the outbreak of the great civil war.

We have seen that the Dunnyveg family or the Clan Iain Mhor had been extinguished as a territorial family in Scotland and that a junior branch of the family had triumphed in Ireland. The Antrim branch of the MacDonalds had prospered exceedingly, and the grandson of Sorley Buy, the first of the family, had been raised to the dignity of a Peer of Ireland as Viscount Dunluce and, two years later, in 1620, created Earl of Antrim. Later he made an attempt to purchase Kintyre for the family, but through further machinations of the Argyll family he was frustrated in his attempts. The first Earl of Antrim died at Dunluce in 1636, and was succeeded by his son, Randal, who was then in his 27th year. Randal had been brought up in the "Highland way," and after finishing his education had travelled for some time abroad. He was presented at the court of Charles I., and became a great favourite, shortly afterwards marrying a daughter of the Earl of Rutland, a great heiress. This marriage, combined with his own heritage, raised Lord Antrim to a great and influential position in the country. Everything seemed to point to a prosperous future, but the outbreak of the civil war changed the outlook and no one espoused the cause of the King more heartily than the young Lord Antrim.

The Sleat family or Clan Donald North, descended from Hugh MacDonald, youngest brother of John, the last Lord of the Isles, who died in 1498, had as their chief in 1639 Sir Donald MacDonald, first baronet. He was a son of Archibald the Clerk, who married a daughter of Angus MacDonald of Dunnyveg and the Glens.

This Archibald was the second son of Donald Gormeson, and should not be confused with Archibald, fourth son of Donald Gruamach, who led the Clan during the minority of his nephew, Donald Gormeson, and had a son, Hugh, who with Angus MacDonald of Griminish was the cause of the Sleat family becoming involved in the feud of the MacDonalds and the MacLeans. The story of this feud is of much interest, and much blood was spilt on both sides. Donald had succeeded his uncle, Donald Gorm Mor, who died in 1617. Donald Gorm Mor had a feud with the MacLeods of Dunvegan over his treatment of his wife, a sister of Rory MacLeod, whom he had divorced, it is said, because she had only one eye. Two fierce battles were fought in Skye, in both of which Donald was victorious.

Donald Gorm, the younger, was a firm loyalist and steady friend of King Charles I., and in 1625 he was created a Baronet of Nova Scotia with precedence after Sir Robert Gordon of Gordonstoun, the first of the creation. That family became extinct, and the MacDonald baronetcy is now the premier baronetcy of Nova Scotia.

In 1639 the King was so anxious to secure the influence and assistance of the Chief of Sleat that he wrote him from his camp near Berwick promising him grants of lands from the estates of the Argyll family, which were to be forfeited.

Donald was able to convey much useful information to the Royalist party, and he entered into negotiation with the Earl of Antrim for a body of troops to serve in Scotland.

The Chief of the Glengarry MacDonalds was at this time Donald MacDonald, 8th of Glengarry, a man far advanced in years. The Glengarry family are descended from Reginald, third son of the "Good" John of Isla by his first wife, Amy MacRuari, whom he subsequently divorced to enable him to marry Margaret Stewart. The reign of this Glengarry was an exceedingly turbulent one, and it was in his time that the terrible feud with the MacKenzies took place. This feud arose out of a dispute between the two families regarding Castle Strome and properties in Lochalsh and Lochcarron, and was carried on with much bloodshed and depredation on both sides. Donald's eldest son, Angus, was killed in one of the raids, and in 1603, near the end of the feud, there occurred the terrible affair of Cillechrìost when the MacDonalds burned down the church full of men, women, and children during divine service. In the end, however, the feud was amicably settled by a re-arrangement of the disputed lands, and the families lived on friendly terms much to their mutual advantage. Angus, the eldest son, having been killed, and his father being advanced in years, the command of the Clan fell to the second son, Alistair Dearg, who also predeceased his father. Donald, however, lived until 2nd February, 1645, the day on which Inverlochy was fought, his grandson, Æneas, son of Alistair Dearg, leading the Clan and contributing greatly to the victory on that memorable day.

The Clanranald Chief at this time was John MacDonald, 10th of Clanranald, a son of Sir Donald MacDonald, who had been knighted at Edinburgh in 1617, and a great grandson of the great John of Moidart, who had been elected Chief of the Clan to the exclusion of the legitimate heir, Ranald Gallda. The Clanranald family, who derive their descent in common with the Glengarry family from Reginald, were in many respects the most distinguished branch of the Clan. They produced soldiers and warriors of the highest ability, and among these John of Moidart takes a foremost place. The career of John of Moidart is so full of interest, arising not only from the fact that he was a man of undoubted ability and courage, but also from the fact that though an elected chief himself he was able to transmit to his heirs without difficulty the great position he had won and held with his sword, that we feel justified in dealing with it somewhat fully.

John was established at Castle Tirrim in 1530, and does not appear to have caused any public disturbance during the next ten years. In 1540, however, the King in the course of a tour round Scotland made a call at Skye, where a number of the insular and mainland chiefs had assembled to meet him. John was among those assembled, and the King treacherously made the chiefs prisoners and carried them to Edinburgh, where they were confined.

John thus a prisoner, the way was open to Ranald Gallda to put forward his claim to the chiefship. He obtained a charter of the lands from the King and, aided by his relatives, the Frasers, and supported by Huntly, he entered Castle Tirrim in triumph and assumed the position of Chief of Clanranald. Ranald, however, was not popular with the Clan on account, it is said, of his meanness, and his triumph did not last. He was expelled from Castle Tirrim and took refuge with Lovat. The Frasers were highly indignant at the insult to their kinsman, and they determined to force him upon his unwilling clansmen, but at this juncture (1542) the King died and John of Moidart was liberated. He proceeded at once to Moidart, resumed leadership of the Clan, and prepared to give battle to the Frasers. He obtained the support of the Keppoch MacDonalds and the Camerons, and carried war into the enemy's country, seizing and laying waste Abertarf, Stratherrie, Glenmoriston, and Glenurquhart. The Frasers invoked the aid of Huntly, who levied some hundreds of men, and uniting their forces they drove the invaders back to the western end of the Great Glen. They hesitated to proceed farther and, unable to fight on their own terms, decided to return home. Huntly returned by Glen Spean and Lovat chose the shorter route through the Great Glen. It was a fatal error of judgment and gave their opponents the opportunity for which they had been waiting. Making a rapid march along the north side of Loch Lochy, John of Moidart and his supporters intercepted Lovat at the head of the Loch, compelling him either to fight or surrender.

The Frasers, however, were made of stuff much too stern even to think of surrender, and a most desperate battle ensued in which Ranald Gallda and Lovat were killed and their followers annihilated almost to a man. Many are the stories told of the personal prowess of John, of Ranald Gallda, of Lovat, and of others engaged in this memorable fight which on account of the fact that the hot weather had caused most of the combatants to throw off their outer garments, came to be known as Blar nan Leine or the "Battle of the Shirts."

After the victory John withdrew to Moidart, but he and his friends, Keppoch and Locheil, had to face the fierce resentment of the government, who vowed the amplest vengeance on the chiefs, and these remained in a state of continuous warfare with Huntly, Lovat and MacIntosh.

In 1545 we find John as one of the Council of the Isles which proclaimed Donald Dubh Lord of the Isles. He accompanied Donald to Knockfergus, and this had the effect of making him a still more conspicuous mark for vengeance.

He was outlawed and his property declared confiscated, but all efforts to seize upon his person failed. About this time Huntly, through the instrumentality of William MacIntosh, the Captain of Clan Chattan, apprehended Keppoch and Lochail.

Both these chiefs, besides having been engaged at Blar nan Leine, had supported with all their power the rebellions hatched by Lennox, and they were considered important captures by the Government. They were imprisoned at Castle Ruthven for a short period, and afterwards tried at Elgin for high treason. Both were found guilty and beheaded, while several of their followers were hanged alongside of them. This action on the part of MacIntosh gave rise to the terrible feud between the Keppoch MacDonalds and the MacIntoshes which lasted over a century, and culminated in the Battle of Mulroy in 1688, when the MacIntoshes were decisively defeated and compelled to flee.

John continued to hold his territories by the sword, and although once again taken a prisoner by treachery about 1555 he escaped, and during the remainder of his life ruled his Clan with conspicuous ability and success. He died at an advanced age in 1584, having ruled his branch of the Clan for 54 years. John of Moidart was succeeded in the Chiefship by his son, Allan, and it was Allan's grandson, John, who was chief at the time of the civil war.

Ranald MacDonald of Keppoch entered heartily into the quarrel between the King and the Covenanters, and without hesitation espoused the Royal cause. At the very outset of the trouble he brought down upon himself and his Clan the vengeance of Argyll, and the latter, professing great zeal for the cause of religion, in 1640 made a raid into Lochaber, plundered the lands, and burnt the house of Keppoch. He left 200 men in Lochaber to keep order, but these were soon killed off or chased out of the country. Ranald about this time disappears from the history of the Clan, and is succeeded by his brother, Donald Glas. Donald, with his followers, joined the Marquis of Huntly's forces collected at Aberdeen in support of the King, and remained with that army until it was dispersed. When Montrose raised the Royal standard in Scotland Donald hastened to join him.

The men of Glencoe also took up the cause of the King, and this family produced a notable warrior of the period in "Ranald of the Shield," whose feats of swordsmanship and valour bulk largely in the annals of the family. Ranald played a prominent part in all the efforts on behalf of the Stewart dynasty, and he was present with the Highland army that defended Worcester against tremendous odds.

Such then was the position of the Clan at the outbreak of the revolution, but it was not until 1644 that they began to take a prominent part in the struggles of that unhappy time.

In December, 1643, the King was induced to consider seriously the project of Montrose for promoting a rising in Scotland which should create a diversion in his favour. At Oxford a plan was made that Montrose should be in command of the rising and proceed to Scotland in an endeavour to raise the Clans for the Royalist cause, while the Earl of Antrim was to raise a force of about 2,000 of his followers to join the Scottish forces. Hitherto, the western Clans had not taken much interest in the Covenanting wars, but Montrose hoped to join many of them to his side especially the MacDonalds, who cherished a desire for vengeance against the Earl of Argyll for the murderous raid he had made into Lochaber in 1640.

When the time came to put the project into action Montrose, armed with the Royal Commission and raised to the rank of Marquis, left Oxford at the head of about 100 cavaliers, chiefly his personal friends, and entered Scotland on 13th April, 1644. He got the length of Dumfries and erected his standard, proposing to wait there for his Irish auxiliaries. He was forced, however, to return to Carlisle and was advised by his friends to abandon what appeared to be a hopeless enterprise. Instead, he conceived the daring project of passing into Scotland alone and incognito to join if possible with his expected auxiliaries from Ireland and at all hazards strike a blow for the King. This project was put into execution. Shortly afterwards he received a letter from Alistair MacDonald informing him of his arrival with the Irish contingent. Alistair was the son of Colla Ciotach, the lineal descendant of John Mor Tainistear of Dunnyveg and the Glens and the rightful heir to extensive lands in Isla and Kintyre of which his family had been despoiled through the machinations of Argyll.

It is not our intention to follow closely the brief but brilliant campaign of Montrose, but merely to indicate the part taken in it by the Clan. Alistair MacDonald left the Irish shores on the morning of June 27th, 1644, and arrived in the Sound of Isla. He had a force of about 1,600 men in four small vessels. Proceeding north, he took and garrisoned the castles of Mingarry and Kinlochaline, and then sailed farther north, disembarking his small force in Knoydart.

Alistair went on a visit to the Chief of Sleat to offer him the command of his forces, but found that the chivalrous Sir Donald had died some time before then and that his son, Sir James, was not disposed to accept the responsibility. Alistair was disappointed and had visions of having to return to Ireland but, during his visit to Duntulm, the Earl of Argyll came upon his ships in Loch Eishort and burnt them. Alistair was forced to remain in Scotland, and crossing over from Skye he marched through Glenquoich into Glengarry's country, pushed on through Inverness, and marched into Badenoch. Here he was joined by many loyalists, and marching southwards through Badenoch made contact at Blair Athol with Montrose.

They left Blair Athol the following day, and proceeding south fought their first battle at Tippermuir, near Perth, on 1st September, 1644. There Alistair and his men contributed largely to the victory, and they drove the Covenanting forces into flight. The next battle was at Crathes, and here Alistair and his followers greatly distinguished themselves and though opposed by superior numbers, victory was again with Montrose. Aberdeen was captured, and Montrose afterwards proceeded to lead Argyll such a dance through the country that he returned to Edinburgh in disgust and for the time being threw up his commission. Montrose then dispatched Alistair MacDonald to the west on a recruiting expedition to raise the Clans, and retired into Athol. Alistair's recruiting expedition was eminently successful and the chiefs of Glengarry, Glencoe, Clanranald, Keppoch, the Stewarts of Appin, and the Camerons of Lochiel all flocked to his standard and marched into Athol. The season was too far advanced for military operations, and the army spent the next three months in winter quarters employing their time mostly in the congenial occupation of raiding the territory of Argyll. Towards the end of January, 1645, Montrose's army once more turned north, and on the 2nd February there was fought the Battle of Inverlochy.

This famous battle has been described so often that it is needless to say more than that the MacDonalds contributed so largely to the victory of the Royalist army that the memory of their great deeds that day are immortalised in the history of the Clan. Alistair MacDonald and his Irish troops formed the right wing.

Another part of the Irish contingent was under Lt. Col. O'Kain, with Ranauld Og MacDonald, one of the family of Dunnyveg as second in command, whilst the centre under the supreme command of Montrose, was composed of the men of Athol with the MacDonalds of every branch of the Clan under their own chiefs, the reserve being under the command of Colonel James MacDonald.

It was a fierce and desperate battle, and the Lowland recruits of Argyll's army soon broke and fled. The Campbell chieftains and their clansmen fought with unavailing bravery, while their chief looked on from his galley and made his escape whenever he saw the day was lost.

We cannot afford the space to follow further the deeds of the Clan in the remainder of the campaign, and must content ourselves by saying that in it they played a notable part and only returned to their homes when all hope for the Royal cause was extinguished.

All the MacDonalds were again out in 1689 and joined Viscount Dundee in the attempt to place James VII. on the throne. Sir Donald MacDonald of Sleat, who joined him, was taken seriously ill in Lochaber and had to return home, but his place was taken by his eldest son. Alistair Dubh MacDonald of Glengarry and his Clan joined on the appointed day, the 18th May, and were soon followed by the Clanranalds, Keppochs, and the Glencoe men. The notable part they took in the battle of Killiecrankie is so well known that it would be superfluous to describe it here, and only the death of their great leader and the want of faith in his successors in command of the Royalist army impelled them, after the serious defeat at Dunkeld, to return to their own country. The proclamation afterwards issued by the Government on 27th August, 1691, offering indemnity to all who would swear allegiance by 1st January, 1692, was subscribed in time by all the chiefs except MacIain of Glencoe. The circumstances which prevented him from complying with the time limit are well known, and the dreadful massacre of Glencoe on 13th February, 1692, remains for ever an indelible stain on the reputation of King William, his government, Lord Stair, Lord Breadalbane, and the Campbell family of Glenlyon.

The rising of 1715 found the MacDonalds again taking the field on behalf of the Stewart family. On the accession of George of Hanover to the British throne in 1714, a congratulatory address professing loyalty to his person and government was drawn up and signed by a large number of chiefs and heads of Highland families.

The first to sign was Glengarry, and among the other names were those of Sleat and Keppoch.

The petition, however, was never presented, as the Earl of Mar felt slighted by his reception at Court, and soon took up arms on behalf of the Royal exile.

Sir Donald MacDonald of Sleat, "Donald of the Wars," who had greatly distinguished himself at Killiecrankie with Dundee, had from the beginning of the century until the eve of the 1715 rising, resided principally in Glasgow and in 1714 had acquired the estate of Frankfield in the parish of Blair. He had only been a few nights in residence at the Castle when he was arrested and taken prisoner on suspicion of being implicated in Jacobite designs. He was released after a short confinement, but was not present at the gathering in Braemar in September. He was, however, in the secrets of the party, and proceeded to Skye to raise his followers.

Allan MacDonald of Clanranald had now come to reside in South Uist. After Killiecrankie he and his brother had gone to France. Allan completed his education in France and became one of the most accomplished gentlemen of his age. He obtained a commission in the French service under the Duke of Berwick and acquired a reputation as a distinguished and gallant soldier. Clanranald was doubtless in correspondence with the Court of St. Germain, for no sooner had the standard been raised at Braemar than he summoned his Clan and sailed from Uist to join the Earl of Mar.

Alistair Dubh MacDonald of Glengarry was again to the fore with the full strength of his Clan at Braemar notwithstanding the fact that he had been the first to sign the loyal petition to King George. A warrant had been issued for his apprehension but he escaped capture, and appeared at Sheriffmuir at the head of his followers.

The Keppoch MacDonalds were at this time under the command of one of the most notable chiefs of the race, Coll MacDonald, subsequently known as "Coll of the Cows." He had been a student at St. Andrews when his father died in 1682, and coming north he passed through Inverness. His Clan had long been at feud with the MacIntoshes, and when in Inverness Coll sent a message to the Chief of that Clan offering to submit their differences to a legal decision or to come to an amicable arrangement. MacIntosh replied to this petition by clapping Coll into prison in Inverness without even the pretence of a trial, but he was shortly afterwards released. Coll continued to hold his possessions by the sword, and continued the feud with the MacIntoshes, on whom he shortly afterwards inflicted a severe punishment at the last Clan battle fought in the country. He joined Viscount Dundee and took a prominent part in his campaign, fighting next Glengarry at Killiecrankie and performing prodigious feats of valour. He returned to Lochaber and resumed his feud with the MacIntoshes, but had a period of relative peace just before the affair of 1715.

The part taken by the Clans in the preliminary proceedings which led to the Battle of Sheriffmuir is well known and need not be repeated here. At Sheriffmuir they formed the better part of the Royalist forces and displayed all their customary bravery and great fighting qualities. The gallant chief of Clanranald fell mortally wounded, and only lived long enough to express the hope that his men would fight well and gain a victory for King James. His fall spread dismay among his followers, but, on Glengarry raising his bonnet and calling out "Revenge to-day, mourning to-morrow," the Highlanders charged with terrific fury and put to flight the wing of the Government troops opposed to them.

Sir Donald MacDonald of Sleat had been taken ill at Perth, and had to be carried home all the way to Skye, but his brothers, James and William, remained at the head of the Sleat men and fought with great bravery at Sheriffmuir. After this decisive action most of the clansmen returned to their homes. Sir Donald MacDonald of Sleat was adjudged guilty of High Treason and his estates forfeited. Ranald MacDonald of Clanranald, brother of the heroic Allan who had also fought at Sheriffmuir, succeeded to the chiefship but was forfeited of his estates. He escaped to France, and never returned to his native land. Coll of Keppoch also escaped to France, where he was in exile for a few years, living in great poverty. He returned to Lochaber in 1719, and appears to have lived quietly on his estates until his death in 1729. Glengarry returned to his castle after Sheriffmuir, and in the next year gave in his submission. He does not appear to have been forfeited of his estates. The Stewart "King over the water," James VIII. and III., showed his appreciation of the services of Sir Donald of Sleat and of Glengarry by conferring on each a peerage. As the Stewarts never again became Kings of Great Britain, the grant was ineffective.

The final appearance of the Clan in the cause of the Stewart dynasty has now to be considered. So much has been written about the gallant but ineffectual attempt of Prince Charles Edward Stewart to regain the throne of his ancestors that no attempt need be made here to follow the general progress of the campaign from the raising of the standard at Glenfinnan to the final disastrous day at Drum-mossie Moor. It will be sufficient to indicate briefly the part taken by the MacDonalds.

In considering this it has always seemed to us to be an amazing thing how the MacDonalds manifested such an active and steady loyalty to the Royal House of Stewart. When we study the history of the relations of the two families there does not seem to have been much cause for gratitude or loyalty on the part of the MacDonalds. It was the cunning and diplomacy of Robert the Stewart that induced John of the Isles to divorce his lawful wife, Amy MacRuari, and contract the marriage with Robert's daughter, Margaret, which ultimately encompassed the ruin of the family and the suppression of the Lordship.

Successive monarchs of the dynasty did their utmost to suppress and annoy the different branches of the Clan at various times, and the Chiefs only received empty promises and barren titles for their services on behalf of the Royal family when the latter were in exile.

It is not surprising, therefore, that some of the MacDonald families refrained from taking any active part in the ill-starred venture of '45, rather it is surprising that so many of them supported the cause which they knew in their hearts to have such a slender chance of success.

Sir Alexander MacDonald of Sleat, although undoubtedly sympathetic to the Jacobite cause, could not but remember that the then reigning family had but recently acquiesced in the restoration of his estates and that to support the apparently hopeless cause of Charles would mean ruin unless complete success was obtained. He resolutely refused to join the rising, and did his best to prevent his retainers from doing so.

Old Clanranald, on hearing of the landing of the Prince at Eriska with only a few followers and destitute of any resources for conducting a campaign, was much concerned and, with his relative, MacDonald of Boisdale, firmly declined to countenance the project. Charles, seeing the futility of arguing with these two, ordered the ship to proceed to Loch nan Uamh, and anchoring in front of Borrodale he sent a messenger in quest of young Clanranald, who was then in Moidart. Clanranald obeyed the summons and with several other gentlemen of the district waited upon the Prince on board "La Doutelle." They represented the difficulties of the situation and the danger of proceeding without the help promised from abroad, but the personality of the Prince won the day and before leaving the ship Clanranald, Kinlochmoidart and his brother, Ranald, had committed themselves to the venture. Young Clanranald was sent to Skye to try to win over Sleat and the MacLeod chief, but without success. Owing to the non-participation of his father and the consequent loss of his followers from the Islands, young Clanranald had only the districts of Morar, Moidart, and Arisaig to draw on and his contingent numbered about 250 men. He was given the rank of Colonel, and had as his second-in-command MacDonald of Glenalladale.

John MacDonald of Glengarry, the chief at the time of the rising, was not a man of the forceful type of his father and he did not take part in the campaign. His son, Alastair Ruadh, was deep in the Jacobite councils, and held a commission in the French army. He had been in the Highlands in the summer of 1745 and was returning to France with various letters from Highland Chiefs, bearing on the position there, when a warrant was issued for his arrest. He was staying in Edinburgh for a few days on his way and had consigned his dispatches for safe keeping during his stay to Father James Leslie, a priest who appeared a good deal in evidence later on in connection with the Jacobite intrigues, when he narrowly escaped arrest. His friends, however, succeeded in warning him in time and he escaped, although it was a few weeks before he found means to cross to France. Before he arrived the Prince had sailed for Scotland and he delivered his dispatches to the Duke of York. Glengarry subsequently tried to reach this country, but the ship in which he sailed was taken by an English frigate and he was lodged in the Tower of London. His younger brother, Angus, took command of the Clan, and joined the Prince at Glenfinnan with about 500 of his clansmen.

Alexander MacDonald of Keppoch was also deeply implicated in the Jacobite plots. Although much disappointed at the smallness of the Prince's resources he decided to throw in his lot with him and proceeded with much enthusiasm to raise his Clan and the neighbouring Clans. On their way to Glenfinnan the Keppochs had the honour of striking the first blow in the campaign at Highbridge where they captured a small party, under Captain Scott, which had been sent from Fort Augustus to intercept them.

The Standard was raised at Glenfinnan on the 17th August, 1745, and, blessed by Bishop Hugh MacDonald, the great adventure began. The Prince and his staff resolved on a descent on the Lowlands, and on the 4th September they entered Perth. From there young Clanranald and Keppoch with a party of their clansmen were sent on a foraging expedition to Dundee. They entered the town, boarded two vessels in the harbour, and carried off a store of arms and ammunition and returned with the spoil to the camp at Perth. From Perth the Highland army proceeded to Edinburgh. After resting there three days they heard that Cope had landed at Dunbar and set out to give him battle. It is not necessary to follow the course of the remainder of the campaign. Its history is well known, and when we say that the MacDonald contingent bore themselves with all their customary bravery and élan at Prestonpans and at every other engagement in which they participated, we have said all that is necessary. At the Battle of Falkirk young Clanranald narrowly escaped being killed, and after the battle young Glengarry lost his life as the result of an accident.

On the fatal field of Culloden on 16th April, 1746, the MacDonalds, notwithstanding all tales to the contrary, played their part nobly and left dead on the field many of their best and bravest, including the gallant chief of Keppoch.

Culloden ended the rising and blighted all hopes of a restoration of the Stewart dynasty. It also ended the history of the Clans as such, but not the making of history by individual members of the Clans.

The story of the wanderings and adventures of the Prince after Culloden; of his final escape to France through the heroic efforts of Flora MacDonald; of Flora's further adventures and the part she and her brave husband, MacDonald of Kingsburgh, took in the war in America; needs no retelling here.

Since then there has never been a time when MacDonalds have not been to the fore. In every walk of life their records are to be found. They have produced great soldiers—to name only two, Marshal MacDonald (Duke of Tarentum), and Sir Hector MacDonald—sailors, statesmen, lawyers, politicians, eminent divines, and literary men. In every campaign fought since 1745, in the Peninsula, in the Waterloo campaign, in the Crimea, in the Indian Mutiny, in South Africa, in the Great War, and in many minor campaigns they have taken an honourable part.

The families of Glengarry, Clanranald, and Keppoch are not now territorially represented in the Highlands, but the Sleat family are still represented in Yorkshire as well as in Skye. Many of the cadet families are still resident in the Highlands, and the spirit of the Clan still hovers strongly around Lochaber and the Rough Bounds.

JOHN D. MACDONALD.

For valuable services in Motor Launches employed on the Otranto Barrage.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER.

- Donaldson, T/Sub-Lieutenant Herbert. Gaz. 1/3/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He was in charge of a company in the front line which was subjected to several intense bombardments, after which the enemy attacked six times. They were driven off on each occasion, and the position was held intact, although one flank was in the air. He worked continually, getting the shattered line into a state of defence and set his men a magnificent example of courage and determination. When the enemy attacked with liquid flame and forced back his flank a short distance, he led a counter attack which re-established the position, and inflicted heavy losses on the enemy.

VICTORIA CROSS.

Insall, 2nd Lieutenant Gilbert Stuart Martin. No. 11 Squad.

Donald, T. H. 1st Class Air Mechanic. Was Lieutenant Insall's Gunner on this occasion. Gaz. 21/12/15.

For most conspicuous bravery, skill, and determination on 7th November, 1915, in France. He was patrolling in a Vickers Fighting Machine with first-class Air Mechanic T. H. Donald as gunner when a German machine was sighted, pursued, and attacked near Achiet. The German pilot led the Vickers Machine over a rocket battery, but with great skill Lieutenant Insall dived and got to close range when Donald fired a drum of cartridges into the German machine, stopping its engine. The German pilot then dived through a cloud, followed by Lieutenant Insall. Fire was again opened, and the German machine was brought down heavily in a ploughed field 4 miles south-east of Arras. On seeing the Germans scramble out of their machine and prepare to fire, Lieutenant Insall dived to 500 feet, thus enabling Donald to open heavy fire on them. The Germans then fled, one helping the other who was apparently wounded. Other Germans then commenced heavy fire, but in spite of this Lieutenant Insall turned again and an incendiary bomb was dropped on the German machine, which was last seen wreathed in smoke. Lieutenant Insall then headed west to get back over the German trenches, but as he was at only 2000 feet altitude he dived across them for greater speed, Donald firing into the trenches as he passed over. The German fire, however, damaged the petrol tank, and, with great coolness, Lieutenant Insall landed under cover of a wood 500 yards inside our lines. The Germans fired some 150 shells at our machine on the ground, but without causing material damage. Much damage had, however, been caused by rifle fire, but during the night it was repaired behind screened lights, and at dawn Lieutenant Insall flew his machine home with First-Class Air Mechanic T. H. Donald as a passenger.

ORDER OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

M'Crindle, Major James Ronald, M.C. Officer of the Military Division. Gaz. 31/12/18.

Donald, Captain Robert. Member. Gaz. 3/6/19.

MILITARY CROSS.

Macdonald, 2nd Lieutenant Alexander Lindsay. Gaz. 22/9/16.

For conspicuous gallantry and skill when carrying out artillery and patrol work at low altitudes and under heavy fire. On one occasion he dispersed a large body of infantry by machine gun fire from 1200 feet and then at once turned a battery on to another advancing battalion causing many casualties.

M'Donald, Lieutenant Ian Donald Roy. Gaz. 13/9/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. With seven scouts he attacked eighteen enemy machines, of which three were destroyed and one driven down completely out of control. When driven down to within 200 feet of the ground by two enemy machines owing to a choked engine, he turned on them and drove one down. He has in all destroyed eleven enemy aircraft and carried out valuable work in attacking enemy troops on the ground.

DISTINGUISHED FLYING CROSS.

Donald of Tandemuir, Captain Graham. Gaz. 21/9/18.

Donaldson, Captain Eric George Edward. (France). Gaz. 7/2/19.

This officer has led twenty-seven bomb raids, displaying at all times conspicuous courage and perseverance. On 3rd October, when on artillery reconnaissance, he saw one of our machines pressed by six enemy aircraft. Single-handed, he went to assist, and pressing his attack home with vigour and determination, he forced the enemy to relinquish the engagement and retire over their lines.

M'Connell, Lieutenant Roy Kirkwood. (France). Gaz. 29/11/18.

This officer has accounted for five enemy machines—destroying two and driving down three out of control, proving himself a gallant fighting airman. He has also shown conspicuous bravery in attacking troops and transport.

MacDonald, Lieutenant (Hon. Captain) Archibald Duncan. 42nd Squadron (Can. Eng.). (France). Gaz. 30/5/19.

MacDonald, Lieutenant Eric Norman. I. Force. (France). Gaz. 30/5/19.

M'Donald, Lieutenant (T./Captain) Ian Donald Roy. Gaz. 2/7/18.

A dashing fighting pilot. In the past two months he has destroyed five enemy machines and brought down two others out of control. At all times he shows a fine offensive spirit and complete disregard of danger.

Macdonald, 2nd Lieutenant James. No. 6 Group, Adriatic. Gaz. 31/12/18.

M'Donald, 2nd Lieutenant (Acting Lieutenant) John. Observer, No. 9 Squadron. (France). Gaz. 29/11/18.

This officer invariably sets a fine example of courage and resolute determination. On 24th August, in response to an S.O.S. call, he penetrated far behind the enemy's lines at a height of under 1000 feet, subjected during the whole time to very heavy hostile fire. Having reached his objective, he attacked the enemy with great effect, inflicting numerous casualties.

Macdonald, Flying-Officer Somerled Douglas. 63rd Squadron, Kurdistan. Gaz. 9/7/20.

Macdonald, Lieutenant William Myron. Gaz. 29/10/18.

A very gallant and determined officer, who never hesitates to attack the enemy however superior in numbers the latter may be. On a recent occasion he engaged, single-handed, five scouts, destroying two, both of which crashed. In all he has accounted for seven machines.

M'Iraith, Lieutenant Earle Fraser. Gaz. 31/12/18.

M'Quistan, Lieutenant (A./Captain) Finlay. Gaz. 7/2/19.

By his example of determination and courage, Captain M'Quistan has inspired the greatest confidence in the other pilots of his squadron. He has led over 30 squadron offensive patrols, and the success attained by his squadron during the past three months is largely due to his skilful leadership. This officer has destroyed or driven down out of control nine enemy machines.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in successfully assembling the brigade in its forming up position, and after the third objective had been captured, making a reconnaissance of our forward positions under constant fire. His brilliant staff work contributed largely to the success of the brigade.

Bar to M.C. Gaz. 1/2/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He carried out a thorough reconnaissance of the ground on the far side of a canal. On the following day when making a mounted reconnaissance, he rescued his orderly, whose horse had been shot under him. Later he personally led a detachment to occupy a forward position under constant fire from snipers.

2nd Bar to M.C. Gaz. 13/9/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during recent operations. He continually carried out reconnaissances of the front occupied by his brigade, and he went forward under very heavy artillery and machine gun fire to clear up the situation. He showed fine courage and determination.

Macdonald, T./2nd Lieutenant Hamish. Gaz. 11/10/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and coolness in action. When in command of the scouting line he came under heavy fire from a knoll 600 yards away. Without hesitation he rallied his men and charged. He captured all the enemy and four machine guns which had for some time been holding up the advance. He did splendidly.

CAVALRY, SPECIAL RESERVE.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

Macdonald, 617 Private C. E. V. Gaz. 28/12/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. While he was lying on the ground, stunned by the fall of his horse which had been shot under him, the enemy came up and commenced to kick him. He feigned death, was able to note the hostile positions, and crawled in after dark with very valuable information.

M'Intyre, Lieutenant James Gordon. Gaz. 1/2/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He showed great courage and determination in leading an attack against the enemy position across a zone swept by machine gun fire. The capture of the position was largely due to his skill and initiative.

Bar to M.C. Gaz. 5/11/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and fine leadership during an attack. He led his company forward with the greatest dash, and although three times driven back by intense machine gun and rifle fire, which held up the advance on his right, he finally gained all his objectives. His courage, determination and initiative greatly inspired his men.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER.

Macdonald, Major Donald Ramsay, M.C. Gaz. 26/7/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. On various occasions he was the last to withdraw his battery, and his handling of a sub-group placed under his command enabled the infantry to prolong the defence by many hours. His courage and skill were admirable.

MacDonald, Captain (A/Major) Harold Symes. Gaz. 28/12/17.

Macdonald, Lieutenant (A/Major) James Alexander. Gaz. 3/6/18.

M'Connel, Captain (Acting Major) Douglas Fitzgerald. Gaz. 1/6/17.

MILITARY CROSS.

Donald, 2nd Lieutenant William. Gaz. 25/5/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. At great personal risk he extinguished a fire which broke out in an ammunition dump, thereby undoubtedly preventing a serious explosion. He has on many previous occasions done fine work.

M'Alister, T./Captain David M'Donald. (D/152nd Brigade). Gaz. 30/5/19.

M'Connell, T./Lieutenant (Local Captain) Primrose. Gaz. 3/6/18.

Macdonald, Captain D. R. Gaz. 1/1/15.

Macdonald, T./Lieutenant (Acting Captain) Edgar. Gaz. 1/6/17.

MacDonald, Lieutenant Eric. (D./123rd Brigade). Gaz. 10/1/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and able leadership in getting his guns into action under heavy shell fire in a position saturated with gas, and maintaining it in action for some hours, although half his personnel were wounded. A few nights later when a dug-out was blown up by a shell and five men buried, he succeeded in spite of intense shell fire in rescuing three of the buried men alive. His example imbued others with the same spirit of determination.

Macdonald, 2nd Lieutenant George. (Attached 110th Brigade). Gaz. 31/12/18.

Macdonald, Captain Harold Symes. Gaz. 1/1/17.

Macdonald, Lieutenant Ian Farquharson. (Special Reserve). Gaz. 15/2/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. During an enemy attack he went forward and established communication with the Infantry when all wires had been cut, and sent back valuable information to the battery throughout the day. He showed great courage and resource.

Macdonald, Captain (Acting Major) James. (Attached B/187th Brigade).
Gaz. 31/12/18.

MacDonald, Lieutenant (A./Major) James Alexander, D.S.O. (Attached D/123rd Brigade). Gaz. 10/12/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and initiative on the 23rd October, 1918, near Beaurain when his brigade was ordered to advance as soon as possible after the Infantry and come into action on their first objective. He pushed forward directly after the attack was launched and selected his battery positions under heavy shell and machine gun fire, sending back most valuable information. Although wounded and suffering from gas when reconnoitring he refused to go to a dressing station, but fought his battery throughout the day.

MacDonald, Lieutenant John Alexander. Gaz. 28/12/17.

Macdonald, Lieutenant (A./Captain) Kenneth Mackenzie. (Attached C/187th Brigade). Gaz. 30/5/19.

Macdonald, Lieutenant Roderick Oswald Corderoy. Gaz. 22/9/16.

For conspicuous gallantry in connection with the registration of his own and other batteries of the Brigade. His duties often took him out in front of our own troops. He carried out his work with extraordinary determination and at great personal risk.

Macdonell, Lieutenant (Acting Captain) (now Acting Major) John Forbes. Gaz. 15/6/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. After withdrawing his men to a flank he remained behind and extinguished a fire which had broken out in an ammunition dump.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

Donaldson, 19270 Bombardier R. (Liverpool). Gaz. 21/10/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty while in charge of battery signallers. He maintained communication in heavily shelled positions and frequently volunteered for duty with forward observation officers, and showed fine courage and initiative in maintaining communications under adverse conditions. He set a splendid example to those with him.

M'Allister, 676594 Farr.-Sergeant F. (Attached 74th Brigade). Gaz. 3/12/18.

He was in charge of the first and second line wagons coming to guns just brought into action. The position was being heavily shelled. His magnificent example of gallantry and coolness was instrumental in getting the wagons up, the ammunition dumped, and the teams away with only a few casualties.

M'Allister, 27011 Bombardier J. D/190th Brigade. (N. Berwick). Gaz. 30/5/19.

On 24th October, 1918, during intense bombardment of the battery position, three non-commissioned officers were buried by a shell; with the aid of another man he extricated them, though twice blown off his feet by the concussion of bursting shells, and later when another shell set light to a dump of charges, he threw a gun-sheet over the flames and extinguished the fire, thereby saving his gun and avoiding further casualties.

M'Donald, 91335 Gunner J. D/177th Brigade. (Airdrie). Gaz. 30/5/19.

During the last two years he has shown himself one of the most courageous and determined layers in the battery. He has been with the guns during all heavy fighting, and has never failed during the most trying periods in setting a very high standard of efficiency.

M'Intyre, 265259 Sergeant S. Gaz. 16/4/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during operations. He volunteered on every occasion to recover captured guns, and assisted to bring in eleven. His courage and coolness has always inspired all ranks.

M'Kean, L/6746 Sergeant J. Gaz. 20/10/16.

For conspicuous gallantry. He accompanied two officers on six forward reconnaissances. His work with compass and notebook under heavy shell fire was excellent.

Macdonald, Lieutenant (T./Captain) Angus Hugh, 4th Highland Mountain Brigade. Gaz. 8/11/15.

Macdonald, 2nd Lieutenant Neil. (Special Reserve). Gaz. 14/9/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when F.O.O. for his battery. Finding his observation obstructed by long grass, he advanced about 200 yards into no man's land, moving from shell hole to shell hole until he got a good view. He then returned for his wire and laid it out by himself, observing for his battery for three hours during which he was constantly sniped and in great danger from his own shell.

Macdonald, 2nd Lieutenant William Albert. (Special Reserve). Gaz. 13/9/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. While his battery position was being heavily shelled by the enemy, a railway truck which was close by containing cartridges was set alight, thus endangering a large consignment of battery ammunition and gas shell, which had just arrived. He at once rushed with his commanding officer and two other ranks to the fire, and after half-an-hour's strenuous and dangerous work, succeeded in extinguishing it.

M'Intyre, Lieutenant William Bertram. (201st Siege Battery). Gaz. 30/5/19.

MacKean, Lieutenant Andrew Neil. (Special Reserve). Gaz. 26/7/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. During an intense battle he volunteered to go forward as a Special F.O.O., and with the greatest courage and determination he moved about for twenty-four hours amid extremely heavy gas and H.E. bombardment, gathering and sending back information of the highest importance. Although suffering from gas, he continued his work all through the trying days of a retreat, and his example of self-sacrifice was beyond all praise.

Donald, T./Lieutenant (T./Captain) Alexander Watt, M.C. 252nd Tun. Coy.
Gaz. 10/1/17.

Bar to M.C. Gaz. 31/1/19.

From 21st August to 12th September, 1918, he displayed great gallantry and resource in reconnaissance work, covering the ground so thoroughly that roads were rendered safe for transport within a few hours of the attack going forward. He examined dugouts and cellars in villages while fighting was still proceeding, and as a result of his work the Infantry had safe shelter at Havrincourt from shellfire after the village had been captured.

MacDonald, T./Lieutenant Alexander. Gaz. 26/7/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty whilst employed in withdrawing railway mounted guns from the forward area. He left camp with an N.C.O. on a rail trolley to inspect the track, but coming under intense fire directed at the railway, proceeded further on foot to ascertain the damage. He then returned and brought up a party, which worked all day under heavy shell fire. Towards evening the shelling abated and he called on his men for a great effort which they responded to. The track was repaired by midnight, when the guns were shunted by hand and finally pulled into safety by an engine. It was due to his courage and fine example that the men were inspired to accomplish such a difficult task.

Macdonald, T./Lieutenant William Murray. Gaz. 1/1/17.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

Darroch, 35773 Sapper (A./L./C.) N. Gaz. 24/8/17.

Conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when in charge of an explosive party. During a raid upon enemy trenches he entered buildings and dugouts which had not been cleared, and by his daring and coolness ensured the successful firing of all his charges. He set a very fine example to his party.

M'Allister, 93111 Corporal (A./Sergeant) J. (Stirlingshire). Gaz. 28/12/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty, always displaying great courage and coolness under fire and energy and skill in the construction of strong points.

M'Donald, 52833 C.S.M. A. A. (Highams Park). Gaz. 28/12/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. His gallantry and fine example during the past two years has always been a fine incentive to his men when working under heavy shell fire. He has at all times performed conspicuously good work, and is a thoroughly reliable and efficient soldier.

M'Donald, 97008 Sergeant C. 178th Tunn. Coy. ([E.] Inverness). Gaz. 30/5/19.

For gallantry at Maresches on the 3rd November, 1918, when with a party of Sappers building a bridge under very heavy shell fire. It was essential that the bridge should be completed on that day as it was required in connection with operations which were to take place early the following morning.

M'Innes, 67650 Sergeant S. (Thornaby). Gaz. 28/12/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. While working during an engagement under continual shell fire, he set an example of coolness and courage which was an inspiration to his men.

M'Iwraith, M.M.57961 2/Corporal S. 36th Division Sig. Coy. (Coatbridge). Gaz. 15/4/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty from 14th to 27th October, 1918, near Moorseele and Deerlyck. He went out repeatedly day and night under heavy shell fire to repair lines which had been cut. His untiring energy enabled communication to be maintained throughout the operations.

M'Quiston, 7181 Sergeant D. 54th Field Coy. Gaz. 11/1/16.

For consistent good work during the campaign. He has always set a good example and is thoroughly reliable and cool under fire. He took command of his section when his officer was wounded and carried on work under very heavy fire. His self-reliance and bravery are remarkable.

Macdonald, Lieutenant Reginald Narcissus. Gaz. 14/12/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when in charge of the two supporting platoons of his company in an attack. After being heavily shelled all day they had to bring up bridges all night. Half the party lost their way in the darkness, but he successfully guided them up three times with bridges through a heavy barrage. He was leading the second wave when he was severely wounded in the jaw and arm. He tried to go on, but was forced to stop from loss of blood.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

Macdonald, 4749 Company Sergeant-Major J. 1st Battalion. Gaz. 11/1/16.

For consistent gallantry and good leadership throughout the campaign.

M'Donald, 6040 C.S.M. J. 1st Battalion. (Tarbert, Harris). Gaz. 15/4/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty on 8th November, 1919, near La Longueville. When one of the front companies was held up by machine gun fire, he took forward two men with a Lewis gun, and getting in rear of the machine gun nest, compelled the enemy to withdraw. Later he carried out a reconnaissance under heavy machine gun fire, and returned with most useful information.

MILITARY CROSS.

MacDonald, Lieutenant Alexander Muir. Gaz. 22/4/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. During a raid, when in charge of a liaison party between the right and centre attacks, he established touch and maintained it throughout the operation. Encountering three of the enemy who were attempting to escape, he accounted for two of them himself and took the third prisoner. Later when the final objectives had been reached, he walked up and down the line, establishing touch and assisting with the reorganisation of the troops. His work throughout, which ensured that the right and centre attacks worked in conjunction, was most gallant and skilful.

Macdonald, T./2nd Lieutenant Norman James. Gaz. 25/5/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. Although the trenches were knee deep in mud he gained his objective, and succeeded in accounting for many of the enemy. He set a fine example to his men.

M'Donald, 2nd Lieutenant William Anderson. 10th Battalion (T.F.) (attached 11th Battalion). Gaz. 14/2/19.

This officer was in command of the scouts at Lidyhem on the afternoon of October 1st, 1918, and finding that his right flank had become exposed, immediately took out a patrol of scouts, and with the help of a Lewis gun, picked up on the way, succeeded in knocking out or causing to retire the detachments of two enemy machine guns that had come up astride the railway and who were causing considerable casualties to troops on our right. He showed marked gallantry and able leadership.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

M'Donald, 16660 Corporal A. (Avonbridge). Gaz. 21/10/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty through a long period. He has taken part in every action that the battalion has engaged in, and has shown fine courage and perseverance, maintaining a very high standard in the performance of his duties throughout and setting a fine example to all his comrades.

MILITARY CROSS.

MacDonald, 2nd Lieutenant Ronald. Gaz. 26/4/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He collected a party and led them out to occupy an enemy mine crater. Later he established and maintained his position under the most trying circumstances.

Bar to M.C. Gaz. 25/9/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He went continually to and fro from Brigade Headquarters under very heavy shell fire, bringing most valuable intelligence, and although blown down several times by the shelling which killed and wounded a number of men, he stayed by them, tied up their wounds and carried several of them to the aid post. His conduct was beyond all praise.

2nd Bar to M.C. Gaz. 13/9/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty throughout a week's fighting. He repeatedly carried out reconnaissances of the front line, returning with valuable information of our own and the enemy's dispositions. When the enemy broke the line he led a counter-attack with great dash, and largely owing to his leadership the line was restored. As Intelligence Officer in action he was invaluable.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

Macdonald, 243086 Sergeant J. F. (Beswick, Manchester). Gaz. 19/10/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in carrying out a determined reconnaissance when exposed to shell and rifle fire. When all his Company Officers had become casualties, he carried on in command for four hours until relieved by an officer, setting a splendid example of coolness and fine leadership.

MENTIONED IN DESPACHES.

M'Kechnie, 36531 Sergeant J. Gaz. 11/6/18.

THE NORTHUMBERLAND FUSILIERS.

MILITARY CROSS.

Donald, T./Lieutenant Robert. Gaz. 17/7/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He displayed the greatest energy and initiative when commanding bombing parties. He organised and took charge of small parties of different units, and by means of grenades he and his party succeeded in inflicting severe casualties.

M'Donald, T./2nd Lieutenant Hugh Cameron. Gaz. 16/7/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led a party of 15 men with a Lewis gun across seven broad and swiftly flowing streams into the enemy's country. He showed great coolness and resource when they encountered a party of the enemy, and succeeded in capturing a prisoner. Though heavy fire was opened on his party, he succeeded in withdrawing his men and the prisoner without confusion. The capture of a prisoner was of the utmost importance for the purpose of identification.

M'Donald, T./Lieutenant Ronald Graham. Gaz. 24/11/16.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He collected a few men and dug himself in some 40 yards from the enemy's trench, successfully holding the captured ground in spite of intense fire.

M'Keand, 2nd Lieutenant Alexander Brodie. Gaz. 17/7/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He performed most valuable work while in charge of battalion carrying parties. He frequently took long journeys in his efforts to secure water for the troops. His pluck and determination under heavy fire greatly assisted with the final consolidation.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

M'Clafferty, 1741 Private E. Gaz. 14/11/16.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He shot an enemy officer working a machine gun, and after disposed of several of the enemy with the officer's revolver. Later he assumed command of part of his company, and continued the advance with great courage and determination.

M'Donald, 559 Coy. Sergeant-Major R. W. 1st/5th Battalion (T.F.). Gaz. 11/1/16.

For conspicuous gallantry. He steadied a newly arrived draft of men under very trying circumstances. Later he collected parties of men of several regiments, who were retiring, rendered first aid to some, and by his courage and example induced others to remain steady. In the evening he went out in search of wounded and carried in an officer who was lying in the open.

Gaz. 30/5/19.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

Donaldson, 29950 Sergeant A. 2nd Battalion. (Cowdenbeath). Gaz. 14/2/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in the advance East of Ypres from 28th September to 5th October, 1918. His conduct throughout was worthy of the highest praise especially on the 2nd October, when during a counter attack by the enemy he formed a defensive flank on the right at a critical period.

M'Donald, 16206 Private J. 7th Battalion. Gaz. 11/1/16.

For conspicuous gallantry when he carried, continuously, ammunition to the firing line and returned with wounded men. His bravery and devotion to duty were most marked.

M'Donald, 52003 L./Corporal W. 1st Battalion. (Glasgow). Gaz. 3/12/18.

With another man he rushed and captured an enemy machine gun post under very heavy fire, thereby permitting his platoon to advance. The machine gun nest contained a team of twenty-two of the enemy and four machine guns. The daring and spirit of the charge completely upset the nerves of the garrison, and when three had been killed the remainder surrendered. He then turned one of the captured guns on another enemy party causing casualties.

MILITARY CROSS.

- Macdonald, 2nd Lieutenant John M'Phail. (Attached K.R.R.C.). Gaz. 15/6/17.
 For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led his company with great ability and judgment at a critical period, materially assisting in carrying through to the final objective. Later he assumed command of the two companies and superintended the consolidating of the position.
 Macdonald, Lieutenant (A./Captain) Symington. Special Reserve. Attached 250th Tunn. Coy. R.E. Gaz. 14/2/19.
 Near Le Mesuil he personally discovered and removed three "delay action" mines, a very dangerous undertaking. Serious loss of life was prevented by his initiative and disregard of personal danger. He has also removed many other enemy devices of a dangerous nature during recent operations, and has set a splendid example of energy and resource to all ranks.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

- M'Allister, 36998 Private J. 9th Battalion. (Glasgow). Gaz. 14/2/19.
 For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during operations east of Ypres on 28th September, 1918. Seeing an enemy machine gun about to come into action, he dashed forward firing as he went, and by wounding the gunner prevented the gun opening fire. He then captured the gun and team.
 Macdonald, 5036 Sergeant A. H. 1st/5th Battalion. (T.F.). Gaz. 11/1/16.
 For conspicuous gallantry: he rallied the men of another regiment, who had, by mistake, received the order to retire, and by his bravery and determination caused the men to return to the trenches they had vacated, thus preventing what might have been a serious situation.

Macdonald, 9112 Bandsman G. 1st Battalion. Gaz. 11/1/16.

For conspicuous gallantry as a stretcher-bearer. He had invariably shewn great bravery and devotion in attending wounded under fire, particularly on one occasion, when his regiment was continuously engaged for a long time.

Macdonald, 7129 L./Sergeant J. 1st/5th Battalion. Gaz. 11/1/16.

For conspicuous gallantry. When on patrol he showed great bravery in assisting to carry in one of their number, who had been wounded close to the enemy wire. The patrol was heavily fired on all the time.

THE ROYAL INNISKILLING FUSILIERS.

MILITARY CROSS.

M'Connell, 2nd Lieutenant Robert Brooks. Gaz. 16/10/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. When in command of a platoon of a reserve battalion he went forward with his Lewis gun team to help the leading battalion clear out and man a strong point, where he remained well in advance of the main line all day and most of the following night, until relieved, setting a splendid example to his men.

M'Keen, T./2nd Lieutenant John. Gaz. 1/3/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. On his platoon being sent to reinforce another battalion, who were hard pressed, he found on arriving that the enemy had broken into the trench system. He at once counter-attacked, leading his platoon with great dash, and drove the enemy out. Despite several counter-attacks which the enemy made, and although suffering heavy casualties, his platoon held them in check for thirty-six hours until relieved. By his splendid courage and cool leadership he was instrumental in saving the position, which was of vital importance to the safety of the line.

THE EAST LANCASHIRE REGIMENT.MILITARY CROSS.

M'Donald, Quarter-Master and Hon. Captain John. Gaz. 26/7/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. His energy and initiative in organising the supply of rations and ammunition to his own unit and others were of great value. He daily accompanied the ration convoys to the line, often through heavy shell fire, and supervised the distribution of food in the actual front line. As Senior Quarter-Master in the division he set a fine example to those of other units.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

MacDonald, 7614 Sergeant A. W. 1st Battalion. Gaz. 22/6/15.

M'Donald, 9358 L./Corporal J. Gaz. 22/9/16.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He accompanied the first line of the assault, laying out a telephone wire as he went, and established himself in a shell hole near the enemy's wire. It was chiefly due to his skill and pluck under very heavy fire that his C.O. was able to keep in touch with his companies.

M'Donald, T./2nd Lieutenant John Rough. Gaz. 22/4/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. During a raid on the enemy line he attacked a post, accounted for eleven of the enemy, and brought back a prisoner, obtaining valuable information. He showed marked courage, coolness and initiative.

MacDonald, T./2nd Lieutenant William Sutherland. Gaz. 13/5/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. During a hostile raid the entrance to his dug-out was blocked by the bursting of a shell and whilst he was endeavouring to clear a way out a party of the enemy attempted to bomb his dug-out, but he routed these by revolver fire. He finally succeeded in extricating himself from his dug-out, and proceeding through a heavy trench mortar barrage to his forward posts, he re-established them.

His devotion to duty and determination were worthy of the highest praise.

MILITARY CROSS.

M'Donald, 2nd Lieutenant James Mitchell. Gaz. 11/10/18.

He led his platoon in an attack with great gallantry and skill, reaching his objective at the appointed time, after a sharp fight with an enemy machine gun detachment, who were all accounted for and the gun turned on the enemy. Finding that a gap in the line had occurred owing to the advance of the flank of the battalion having been checked, he skilfully covered it with Lewis gun and rifle fire and so helped to deny it to the enemy. He maintained his position for 48 hours until relieved, inspiring his men by his example and resolute spirit.

MILITARY CROSS.

Donaldson, T./2nd Lieutenant Alfred James. Gaz. 25/9/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. During two days of severe fighting he made journeys under heavy fire to maintain touch with the battalions on the flanks and with the front line. He also reconnoitred and laid out the assembly area under fire, and guided the companies to their tapes.

M'Donald, Lieutenant (T./Captain) Albert Victor. Gaz. 1/6/17.

Bar to M.C. Gaz. 5/11/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and fine leadership during an attack. Through fog and very heavy fire he led his company with the greatest determination to the final objective, an advance of some 4000 yards, with comparatively few casualties. He maintained his position until ordered to withdraw, and then carried out the withdrawal most skilfully. He displayed exceptionally bold and able leadership.

2nd Bar to M.C. Gaz. 31/1/19.

For great gallantry and enterprise throughout operations near Sailly-Sallisel, 1st and 2nd September, 1918. In the attack he gained and held his objective, in spite of extremely heavy shell and machine gun fire. When it was thought the enemy were preparing a heavy counter-attack, he advanced his offensive patrols and found that the enemy were retiring; whereupon he collected all available troops and pressed on. His reports were always valuable and his example to the men of a very high order.

MILITARY CROSS.

Donaldson, T./Captain John Muir. Gaz. 25/8/16.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. Although wounded he remained with his company encouraging them on under heavy shell, rifle and machine-gun fire, until he was hit again and forced to retire.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

D. C. M. CLASP.

M'Intyre, A. 1143 Acting Company Sergeant-Major W. L. Gaz. 2/6/16.

The above N.C.O. is awarded a Clasp to his D.C.M.

The D.C.M. was awarded for services in the South African War whilst belonging to H.L.I. Vide "London Gazette" dated 31st October, 1902. P. 6904.

THE MANCHESTER REGIMENT.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER.

MacDonald, Captain (T./Major) Charles Leslie. Gaz. 1/1/17.

Bar to D.S.O. Gaz. 25/9/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty at a moment when a party of his own battalion and other units were held up by an enemy strong point. He pushed forward and organised a bombing attack, but the officer leading it was killed, and it failed. Seeing a tank approach he ran out under fire and got into it, directing the tank towards the strong point. As soon as he had given instructions he got out again and re-joined his party in the trench under a storm of machine gun fire. He has on all occasions set a fine example of coolness and contempt of danger.

MILITARY CROSS.

Donaldson, Lieutenant (A./Captain) John. Gaz. 3/6/18.

Macdonald, 6984 Company Sergeant-Major (A./R.S.M.) Charles. Gaz. 18/1/18.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

M'Donald, 815 L./Sergeant A. 1st/6th Battalion (T.F.). Gaz. 2/2/16.

For conspicuous gallantry on 7th August, 1915, at Gallipoli. Twice he crossed a very dangerous fire swept zone to bring up bombs to the firing line. On the third occasion he found a wounded officer, whom he brought in.

Macdonald, 6984 Acting Sergeant-Major C. 11th Battalion. Gaz. 20/6/16.

For consistent good work and devotion to duty.

M'Donald, 582 C.S.M. T., M.M. (Bury). Gaz. 21/10/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. This Warrant Officer is at all times untiring in his work, and during an attack his example and leadership largely contributed to its success. When officers became casualties he assisted in performing their duties, and in the line has been most useful to his company commander.

MILITARY MEDAL.

THE DURHAM LIGHT INFANTRY.

MILITARY CROSS.

M'Connell, T./Lieutenant Alexander Anderson. Gaz. 26/7/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. When his company Commander was wounded he took charge and fought on until hemmed in on three sides, and almost out of ammunition, when he withdrew in good order under heavy fire, successfully extricating his men from a very difficult situation.

Macintyre, Captain Reginald George. Gaz. 28/12/17.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

M'Donald, 2174 Private J. Gaz. 14/11/16.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He carried messages under very heavy fire. Later he led a party of twenty men through heavy fire to an advanced post. He set a fine example of courage and determination throughout.

MILITARY MEDAL.

M'Donnell, 19/1174 L./Corporal H. (South Shields). Gaz. 18/10/18.

THE HIGHLAND LIGHT INFANTRY.

ORDER OF THE BATH.

Ronaldson, Lieutenant-Colonel Robert William Hawthorn. Member of Military Division of the 3rd Class. Gaz. 22/6/15.

MILITARY CROSS.

Donald, Lieutenant (T./Captain) William Francis Maxwell. Gaz. 14/8/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. While divisional observing officer he showed the greatest initiative and disregard of personal safety in crawling out to an exposed position under heavy fire of every description to obtain information from the company holding the position. Though wounded while doing so he successfully returned with the required information.

M'Coll, T./Lieutenant Robert Balderston. 2nd Battalion. Gaz. 7/3/19.

On 23rd October, 1918, as Staff-Captain he showed great gallantry and energy when the brigade carried out three attacks on separate objectives, advancing from the River Harpies, at Vertain, to the River Ecaillon beyond Capelle. He was tireless throughout the night and day reconnoitring roads and bridges under heavy shell fire and in selecting sites for advanced dumps to which he personally conducted the transport at the earliest possible moment.

M'Connell, T./Lieutenant John Rawson. Gaz. 14/9/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. At imminent risk of his life he crawled across a bridge which had been almost destroyed by enemy shell fire in order to get to his battalion headquarters with instructions. The gallantry and determination of this act were greatly increased by the fact that it was dark at the time, the air densely charged with gas, which entailed a helmet being worn, and the solitary beam which was all that remained of the bridge was under heavy artillery fire. He successfully accomplished his task in the face of all these difficulties displaying splendid fearlessness throughout.

MacInnes, 2nd Lieutenant William Alexander. Attached Border Regiment. Gaz. 26/4/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led his platoon in a most gallant manner and inflicted many casualties on the enemy. Later he reorganised his men and materially assisted in repulsing a hostile counter attack.

Bar to M.C. Gaz. 25/9/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during an intense hostile bombardment of a town. He occupied the Brigade observation post which was unprotected and at the top of a conspicuously high building, for 12 hours under intense shell fire. His work enabled the brigade commander to keep in touch with the situation, as all other means of doing so were being continually interrupted, and in spite of shells bursting all round his post and passing through the building he declined to vacate it except to repair his telephone wires. He set a magnificent example of fearlessness and devotion to duty.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

M'Allister, 10062 Private R. J. 3rd Battalion. (Formerly 1st Battalion). Gaz. 11/1/16.

For conspicuous gallantry. Private M'Allister volunteered to form one of a bombing party in an attack on the enemy's barricade. Although wounded he attempted to charge the barricade, but was forced to retire being wounded again in three places by bullets, and also injured by a bomb. His bravery and devotion were most marked.

M'Donald, 8512 Corporal H. Gaz. 14/11/16.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led a party of his men for 250 yards establishing a new block. Later when attacked by four of the enemy under an officer he saved the situation by promptly killing the officer. He set a fine example of courage and initiative.

M'Donald, 6923 Company Sergeant-Major J. W. (Edinburgh). Gaz. 19/10/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty at a critical moment. During a hostile attack he rallied his company who were commencing to fall back owing to a misunderstanding, reorganised the defence, and by his fearless conduct completely restored their spirits and the situation. When two of his officers had become casualties he took control and showed complete disregard of shell and rifle fire in order to maintain communication with his flanks.

M'Intyre, 7259 Private J. 1/8th (Lanark) Battalion. (Attached 1/7th Battalion Royal Scots). Gaz. 14/9/15.

For conspicuous gallantry on 28th July, 1915, on the Gallipoli Peninsula. He was twice wounded while carrying ammunition across the open. He had previously been brought to notice for marked bravery.

M'Kean, 1633 Company Sergeant-Major M. 1/5th Battalion. (Glasgow). Gaz. 14/3/16.

For conspicuous gallantry during an assault. When his officer was killed he took command, rallied his men, and led them into the enemy's trench. He set a fine example of cool bravery.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER.

MacDonald, Lieutenant (A./Captain) Angus MacGillivray. Gaz. 22/4/18.

MILITARY CROSS.

MacDonald, Lieutenant (Acting Captain) Alastair Hugh. Gaz. 17/7/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He handled his company during the advance with the utmost skill and determination. It was entirely due to his fine leadership and coolness in the face of heavy fire that he obtained his objectives with so little loss.

Bar to M.C. Gaz. 13/9/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty as Acting Adjutant. When the Commanding Officer was wounded he took command of the battalion until the arrival of the second-in-command, and handled the men with great skill in the face of heavy fire. On one occasion he collected a party of disorganised men and re-formed a new line, thereby saving a situation which was becoming serious. Throughout the operations he displayed great courage and maintained his calm demeanour at the most trying times, even when the enemy was almost through our lines.

2nd Bar to M.C. Gaz. 11/10/18.

For conspicuous gallantry during recent operations. While temporarily commanding the battalion he went forward and personally directed the advance, under heavy machine gun and artillery fire. His tireless energy and devotion to duty throughout were a splendid example to all ranks and of the utmost assistance to the battalion.

Macdonald, T./2nd Lieutenant Alexander John. 2nd Battalion. (Attached 7th Battalion). Gaz. 14/2/19.

For gallantry and coolness under very heavy fire during the attack on Ledeghem on October 1st, 1918. He led his platoon with great dash, and succeeded in pushing on beyond his objective. Throughout the operations from September 28th to October 3rd, 1918, he set an example of courage which greatly encouraged his platoon; and later his company, which he took over when his company commander was wounded.

MacDonald, T./2nd Lieutenant Hector. Gaz. 26/7/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in a rearguard action, when he accounted for twelve of the enemy himself and enabled two companies, which were almost surrounded, to retire in good order and take up new positions. During many actions he greatly distinguished himself and set a fine example of tenacity and courage.

MacDonald, 2nd/Lieutenant John. Gaz. 26/7/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. This officer beat off several attacks and inflicted severe casualties on the enemy, showing complete disregard of danger, walking about directing the fire of his men and encouraging their efforts. When forced to withdraw he did so with masterly skill, suffering few casualties.

Macdonald, T./Lieutenant Kenneth. 7th Battalion. Gaz. 14/2/19.

For most conspicuous gallantry and determined leadership during the operations north-east of Ypres from September 28th till October, 3rd, 1918. He led his company with great skill against the enemy positions on the Brodseinde Ridge, and on more than one occasion captured parties of the enemy practically single-handed. His fearlessness inspired all ranks under him.

MacDonald, 2nd Lieutenant William Francis. Special Reserve. Gaz. 23/11/17.
For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. When his Lewis Gun N.C.O. was hit, he worked the gun himself, in spite of a smashed thumb, remaining at his post until dark. Throughout the day he sent in excellent reports, and maintained the line which would otherwise have fallen back.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

Macdonald, 200018 Sergeant A. (Alness). Gaz. 28/12/17.
For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He has rendered valuable services since the commencement of the campaign, and has always shown the greatest courage, coolness, and initiative.

MacDonald, 200293 Sergeant D. (Dingwall). Gaz. 3/9/18.
For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. As a sniper and observer this non-commissioned officer performed valuable work under fire, when his coolness and devotion to duty were conspicuous. Through the information he afforded, timely dispositions were made to repel strong enemy attacks on our flanks, during which he inflicted heavy losses on the enemy machine guns and advancing infantry.

Macdonald, S/43856 Private (L./Corporal) D. 2nd Battalion. (Glasgow). Gaz. 14/2/19.

During the attack at Presnau on 2nd November, 1918, he rushed a hedge from which the enemy were firing and forced four men to surrender. Later he noticed enemy firing from a house. Firing his Lewis gun from the hip he rushed forward to the door of the house, killing several as they tried to escape and taking four prisoners. He did splendid work.

M'Donald, 204286 C.S.M. M. 4th Battalion. (Torridon). Gaz. 31/12/18.
For conspicuous gallantry during the operations extending over a period from the 23rd August to 3rd September, 1918. His fearless manner has always been a splendid example to his men throughout his long service with the battalion.

Bar to D.C.M. Gaz. 14/2/19.

During the operations at Lieu St. Amand on the 13th October, 1918, although wounded, he continued to advance with his company through very heavy fire, and was the first man to reach the objective. By collecting the men in his vicinity and leading them on, the whole company was enabled to reach its objective.

2nd Bar to D.S.O. Gaz. 15/2/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during an attack. When nearly all the officers had become casualties, and the attack was held up, he not only made a dangerous reconnaissance alone, but subsequently on three separate occasions during the day reorganised parties of his battalion, and led them forward in spite of heavy fire and severe losses. He showed magnificent courage and coolness.

MILITARY CROSS.

Macdonald, 2nd Lieutenant Ewen Cattanach. 6th Battalion (T.F.). (Attached 6th/7th Battalion). Gaz. 14/2/19.

For marked gallantry and devotion to duty north of Avesnes-le-Sec on October 13th, 1918. He was commanding a platoon of a support company, and when the company in front was held up and its commander wounded, he went forward through the enemy barrage to reconnoitre. He returned with information, and his platoon was ordered forward to fill a gap between the front companies. He led it forward, and, although wounded, occupied the position under heavy shell and machine gun fire.

M'Donald, Lieutenant George. 1st Battalion. Gaz. 28/3/16.

For conspicuous gallantry during operations. He twice led up reinforcements at a critical moment in the attack, and thus enabled the assault to be pushed home. Though slightly wounded, he kept command of his company till the end of the operations, frequently going back over the open to report to Headquarters.

Macdonald, 9845 Acting Regimental Sergeant Major James. Gaz. 18/8/16.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. His conduct throughout the war has been marked by consistent courage. He has set a fine example of cool fearlessness.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

M'Donald, 1383 L./Corporal D. Gaz. 9/1/17.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He assumed command of and led his platoon with great courage and initiative, capturing 170 prisoners and a machine gun.

M'Eachnie, 1484 Sergeant J. 1st Battalion. Gaz. 16/5/16.

For conspicuous gallantry when repelling a counter-attack by the enemy. When part of the line was temporarily evacuated, his party was the first back to re-occupy it and reorganise its defences. Later when holding another point, he held on under very severe shell fire.

Macdonald, Major Andrew Edward. Officer of the Military Division. (For services connected with the war). Gaz. 30/5/19.

MILITARY CROSS.

Donaldson, 2nd Lieutenant Albert. Gaz. 26/9/17.

Bar to M.C. Gaz. 26/7/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in action. Throughout the operations he showed marked ability, particularly during the withdrawal, when his fearlessness had a most inspiring effect on his men. Later he was put in command of two companies, when he showed great skill in reorganising under most difficult circumstances.

MacDonald, T./2nd Lieutenant Alexander Robert. Gaz. 22/4/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when in command of a raiding party. He found loose wire across the gap in the enemy's wire, but with the help of a N.C.O. he cleared the gap and led his party through into the enemy's trench. He successfully dealt with the enemy in the trench, and when some of them tried to escape he followed them, killing one and capturing three prisoners. He withdrew the whole of his party safely, having set them an inspiring example of coolness and courage throughout the operation.

MacDonald, Lieutenant Donald. Gaz. 26/7/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in command of his company. When the unit on his left was driven back he extended his flank and caused the enemy enormous casualties, only retiring when both flanks were turned. Throughout the day he showed great initiative and courage crossing to and fro over ground swept by heavy fire to encourage and cheer his men.

Macdonald, T./Lieutenant John. Service Battalion. Gaz. 11/1/16.

M'Gruer, 2nd Lieutenant Alexander Gruer. Gaz. 17/7/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. During a raid on the enemy's trenches he formed a line of strong points twenty yards from the enemy line and held them until rushed by the enemy at dawn. He continued to defend them until practically surrounded, finally withdrawing to our own front line.

M'Innes, Lieutenant John Anderson. 4th Battalion (T.F.). (Attached 1st Battalion). Gaz. 2/4/19.

During the forcing of the Sambre-Oise Canal on 4th November, 1918, and subsequently for gallantry and fine leading and patrolling. He showed throughout great initiative. On one occasion, the company being held up, he patrolled forward with one runner to the northernmost houses of Robelmetre, where he captured seventeen prisoners.

M'Intyre, S/25807 L./Corporal J. (Glenelg). Gaz. 3/9/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He showed the greatest coolness throughout a heavy day's fighting when in charge of a Lewis Gun Section. When his gun and half his team were buried, he dug them out. Finally, when the line withdrew, he remained at his post until the enemy were within fifteen yards and then got his gun back to a new position.

VICTORIA CROSS.

MacIntyre, T./Lieutenant David Lowe. Gaz. 25/10/18.

For most conspicuous bravery in attack, when, acting as Adjutant of his battalion, he was constantly in evidence in the firing line, and by his coolness under most heavy shell and machine gun fire inspired the confidence of all ranks. Three days later he was in command of the firing line during an attack, and showed throughout most courageous and skilful leading in face of heavy machine gun fire. When barbed wire was encountered he personally reconnoitred it before leading his men forward. On one occasion when extra-strong entanglements were reached, he organised and took forward a party of men, and under heavy machine gun fire supervised the making of gaps. Later, when the greater part of our line was definitely held up, Lieutenant MacIntyre rallied a small party, pushed forward through the enemy barrage in pursuit of an enemy machine gun detachment, and ran them to earth in a "pill box" a short distance ahead, killing three and capturing an officer and ten other ranks and five machine guns. In this redoubt he and his party raided three "pill boxes" and disposed of the occupants, thus enabling the battalion to capture the redoubt. When the battalion was ordered to take up a defensive position, Lieutenant MacIntyre after he had been relieved of the command of the firing line, reconnoitred the right flank which was exposed. When doing this, an enemy machine gun opened fire close to him. Without any hesitation he rushed it single-handed, put the team to flight, and brought in the gun. On returning to the redoubt he continued to show splendid spirit while supervising consolidation. The success of the advance was largely due to Lieutenant MacIntyre's fine leadership and initiative, and his gallantry and leading were an inspiring example to all.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER.

MacConnell, Major Archibald Laird. Gaz. 28/12/17.

MILITARY CROSS.

MacDonald, 2nd Lieutenant (T./Lieutenant) Alexander. Gaz. 28/12/17.

MacDonald, 2nd Lieutenant John. Gaz. 16/10/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty while in command of his company in an attack after two of the company officers were killed. Though the company had become somewhat disorganised, and the line on both flanks retired under heavy fire, although suffering from a gunshot wound in the back, he steadied the men and started to dig in where they were, and to hold the ground gained.

M'Donald, 300032 C. Sergeant-Major John, D.C.M. 1st/8th Battalion. Gaz. 31/12/18.

M'Intyre, 2nd Lieutenant (T./Captain) Alexander Cameron. (T.F.). Gaz. 2/6/16.

Macintyre, 2nd Lieutenant Robert Cochran. Gaz. 14/12/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty as the sole surviving officer of his company during an attack. He was instrumental in the capture of a strong point which had held up the company.

M'Kechie, 2nd Lieutenant Ernest Alexander. 3rd Battalion. (Attached 1st/6th Battalion). Gaz. 16/5/16.

For conspicuous gallantry. When two mines were exploded, wrecking the defences, he rescued, assisted by two privates, a N.C.O. after working for two hours under heavy shell, trench mortar, and rifle fire.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

M'Alister, 300494 C.S.M. N. 2/8th Battalion. Attached 2nd Battalion. (Campbeltown). Gaz. 14/1/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when the enemy counter-attacked our newly-won position near Villers-Guislain on 23rd September, 1918. Collecting as many men as he could, he rushed the threatened point, killing several of the enemy, but was forced to withdraw owing to weight of numbers. He and an officer held on to a block, checking the enemy by bombing, and he subsequently was the first in a counter-attack which drove them out.

M'Donald, 300362 Sergeant E. (Kintyre). Gaz. 16/11/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led his men forward through a heavy barrage, and over most difficult ground, to reinforce the front line, taking command of two platoons when the officer in charge was killed. He went forward alone under fire to reconnoitre the route, and then guided the platoons to their position in time to assist in repelling an enemy counter-attack. He did excellent work later with a party of snipers, and throughout set a splendid example of courage and gallantry.

M'Donald, 300032 C.S.M. J. (Argyllshire). Gaz. 28/12/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. When his company was held up by heavy machine gun fire, he displayed great courage and coolness in organising scattered parties and leading them forward. His disregard of danger and fine example were valuable at a very critical period.

M'Innes, 1819 Corporal C. Gaz. 26/4/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during a raid on the enemy's trenches. He led his men in a most gallant manner, held the entrance to a large dug-out, and inflicted many casualties on the enemy.

Macintyre, 868 A./C.S.M. D. F. Gaz. 12/3/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. Throughout he has performed consistent good work and has at all times set a splendid example of courage and determination.

M'Intyre, 2608 L./Corporal J. 9th (The Dumbartonshire) Battalion, T.F. Gaz. 3/8/15.

For conspicuous gallantry on the 11th May, 1915, at Hooze. Although wounded, Corporal M'Intyre continued to lead his company to the fire trenches under a very heavy shell fire, and when wounded a second time within 50 yards of the trenches he refused any assistance, but continued to urge his men forward into the trenches.

MACHINE GUN CORPS.

MILITARY CROSS.

Donald, T./2nd Lieutenant James. Gaz. 13/9/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He kept his machine guns in action, repelling many attacks until he was surrounded. Later he remained behind to cover a retirement, afterwards successfully rejoining the other troops. He was in action six days without relief, and his conduct throughout was excellent.

Donaldson, T./Lieutenant John Coote. 2nd Battalion. Gaz. 14/2/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty on September 28th, 1918, near Rumilly. Hearing that the officer commanding a machine gun section which had gone forward with the infantry had been severely wounded, he led his section forward under heavy shell fire and took command of the guns at both sections. He inflicted heavy losses on the enemy during a counter attack and afterwards with two of his guns forced the enemy to retire from an orchard. Throughout the operations he showed great initiative and resource.

MacDonnell, Lieutenant Charles Bruce Joy. Gaz. 23/11/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in taking up the guns and a large supply of ammunition, along a road subject to a constant and heavy enemy barrage, and unloading nine limbers under fire with the help of three men, the only survivors of the party.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

Donaldson, 73665 L./Corporal R. Gaz. 16/11/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. Though wounded he kept his gun in action for four hours under heavy sniping fire. Though again wounded during an enemy counter-attack he kept his gun firing until almost surrounded by the enemy. His accurate fire inflicted severe casualties and held up the counter-attack for two hours. He set a magnificent example of courage and devotion to duty.

MILITARY CROSS.

MacDonald, T./2nd Lieutenant Murdo Bayne. Gaz. 22/6/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. While in command of a working party he was wounded, but before having his wounds attended to he attended to other wounded men and personally supervised their evacuation to a dressing station. He himself then proceeded to the dressing station, where a piece of shell was extracted from his leg. Though the Medical Officer wished him to go into hospital, he declined to do so and returned to supervise his men at their work. In view of the fact that he had been wounded three weeks previously, had remained at duty, and that his wound was not healed up when again wounded, his conduct and devotion to duty were worthy of the highest praise.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

M'Allister, 7813 Sergeant A. (Stevenston). Gaz. 31/12/18.

For gallantry and devotion to duty at Fens, on 22nd March, 1918, in charge of section maintaining light railways to and through ammunition dumps. He and his section repaired and filled in shell holes under very heavy shell fire, thus enabling the supply of ammunition to be maintained. He kept his men intact and at work all the time, and by his good example and cheerfulness and encouragement kept his men well under control and their work was invaluable.

M'Donald, 2nd Lieutenant (T./Captain) Montagu James. Gaz. 14/11/16.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He rallied his men when suffering heavy casualties, and though wounded continued with his company until he had reached his objective. He inspired his men by his fine example.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

M'Allister, 514122 Sergeant C. (Port William). Gaz. 12/11/18.

He commanded his platoon in two attacks on a village, and on both occasions he led his men under heavy machine gun fire with gallantry, judgment, and determination to their objective. On the second day he was severely wounded in the back, but refused to leave his platoon or have his wound dressed until the battalion came out of action. His example greatly inspired his men.

MacDonald, 510465 C.S.M. C. I. (Highgate). Gaz. 28/3/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He destroyed an enemy machine gun by firing rifle grenades from a sap which was being heavily bombed. He afterwards took charge of a Lewis gun, and, mounting it in an exposed position, silenced a second enemy machine gun. He set an inspiring example of coolness under fire to the men of his command.

Macdonald, Captain (T./Major) Fergus. Gaz. 3/6/18.
 Macdonald, Lieutenant George Brown. 16th Siege Battery Ammunition Column. Gaz. 14/2/19.

For great gallantry and devotion to duty. On the nights September 22nd/23rd to 25th/26th, 1918, at Inchy-en-Artois, he succeeded in bringing five guns and twelve hundred rounds of ammunition to his battery position within 700 yards of the front line under very heavy shell fire. He also showed great coolness and disregard of danger on the night of September 24th/25th, when an ammunition dump was set alight by hostile shell fire 100 yards from a bridge over which the guns could only be taken and 200 yards from the lorries loaded with component parts. He immediately cleared the latter from the vicinity and brought the guns over the bridge one by one before the dump blew up.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

M'Grory, M2/048022 Driver E. M. T. Section. Gaz. 2/2/16.

For conspicuous gallantry on 12th July, 1915, in Gallipoli Peninsula. Driver M'Grory was knocked off the seat of his motor ambulance with a shell and badly wounded but he struggled back to his seat to stop the car, thus saving the wounded patient from a serious accident.

M'Intire, M2/099963 Sergeant A. (Montrose). Attached 214 Siege Battery, R.G.A. Gaz. 31/12/18.

For consistently good and gallant work, and especially for the display of great courage and coolness at a critical moment, when delivering ammunition near Villers Bretonneux just prior to the attack on 8th August, 1918.

M'Donnell, Major (T./Lieutenant-Colonel) Edmond, M.B. Gaz. 1/1/17.
 Macintyre, T./Captain (A./Major) Hugh Ross, M.C., M.D. (Attached 69th Field Ambulance). (Italy). Gaz. 31/1/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during operations on the Piave between October 27th and 29th, 1918, especially on the morning of the 27th when in charge of stretcher-bearers. He crossed to the right bank of the Piave immediately behind the infantry under very heavy fire and supervised the collection and evacuation of the wounded under great difficulties, having to ford the river several times. He set a very fine example to all under him by his untiring energy and total disregard for his own safety.

M'Larty, T./Captain Gordon Archibald, M.B. Gaz. 28/12/17.

MILITARY CROSS.

Donald, T./Captain Douglas Allan, M.B. Gaz. 20/10/16.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during operations. When a dug-out was hit by a gas shell he twice entered and removed two wounded men under very dangerous conditions. He had previously been working continuously for 48 hours removing the wounded from aid posts.

Donald, T./Captain Robert, M.D. (Attached 35th Field Ambulance). Gaz. 14/2/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty on September 27th, 1918, during the advance on Épinoy. He dressed cases in the open all day under fire and established a chain of aid posts as the infantry advanced. It was solely due to his unflagging zeal, his initiative and absolute disregard for personal safety that a most difficult front line evacuation was carried out with the utmost rapidity.

Donald, Captain William, M.B. Special Reserve. Gaz. 28/12/17.
 Bar to M.C. Gaz. 31/1/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during operations against Sugar Loaf and Thetassel on 18th and 19th September, 1918. He went fearlessly forward under the heaviest fire to rescue wounded lying in front of the enemy's positions. By his courage he set the finest example to his stretcher-bearers, and was instrumental in saving many lives. He worked unceasingly for three days, and refused to rest until all wounded had been brought in.

M'Connell, Captain Albert Edward Peel. Gaz. 16/10/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when in charge of the evacuation of the wounded. Though heavily shelled, he kept his line perfectly clear. He superintended the evacuation personally, working for forty-five hours without ceasing under the most difficult and dangerous conditions, and by his example encouraged the men under him in every possible way. Later he took two stretcher squads to the relief of batteries which were being heavily shelled.

M'Connell, T./Captain William. Gaz. 28/12/17.

Macdonald, Captain Alistair Cameron. Special Reserve. Gaz. 30/5/19.

Macdonald, Captain Donald Christopher, M.B. Special Reserve. Gaz. 3/6/18.

MacDonald, T./Lieutenant Walter George, M.B. Gaz. 22/12/16.

Macdonald, T./Captain William James, M.B. Gaz. 3/6/18.

M'Donnell, T./Captain James. Gaz. 14/8/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. When the village was being shelled, a number of men were buried and badly wounded. He superintended a party and worked for three-quarters of an hour, and succeeded in rescuing them. This task was carried out under continuous shelling.

M'Donnell, T./Captain Randal Vivian. (Attached Bedford Regiment). Gaz. 17/7/17.

For conspicuous bravery and devotion. For over 48 hours he attended more than 200 wounded, many having to be dressed in the open under heavy fire. His total disregard of personal danger was beyond praise.

MacIntyre, T./Captain Donald, M.B. Gaz. 3/6/18.

Macintyre, T./Captain Hugh Ross, M.D. Gaz. 14/8/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when in command of a bearer party. He led his men repeatedly through heavy hostile barrage until all the wounded had been carried into safety. He was fearless in the place of danger, and by his coolness and courage he showed a splendid example to his men.

Bar. to M.C. Gaz. 26/10/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. When in charge of the evacuation of the wounded he, from time to time, led his stretcher-bearers and cleared the wounded although exposed to fire from snipers. He worked untiringly and incessantly for three days without sleep, and it was due very greatly to his efforts that the Regimental Aid Posts were kept clear of the wounded, and cases quickly evacuated to the advanced dressing station. He is fearless in the face of danger and by his splendid courage and example he inspired confidence in his men.

Macintyre, T./Lieutenant John, M.B. Gaz. 14/11/16.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He tended and dressed the wounded under heavy fire with great courage and determination, himself being four times buried by shells.

M'Intyre, T./Captain William Keverall. Gaz. 28/12/17.

Ronaldson, Captain (A./Major) John Gray, M.B. Special Reserve, Attached No. 14 Field Ambulance. Gaz. 18/1/18.

Bar to M.C. Gaz. 31/1/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in the operations near Cambrai from 18th to 30th September, 1918. He was in charge of the bearers clearing the divisional front, and during the whole period he was living under heavy shell fire including gas. Through casualties to M.O.'s, he had only one officer left to help him, but by constantly visiting the front posts he cleared all the casualties and his cheerfulness kept up the spirits of the bearers.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

Donald, 316293 Private W. S. (Golspie, Sutherlandshire). Gaz. 19/10/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He carried the wounded for twenty hours at a stretch without any rest and volunteered to act as Regimental Stretcher-bearer for a medical officer who had lost half of his men through wounds. Most of his work was done over ground that was both shelled and swept by rifle fire and machine gun fire. Throughout the day he showed a most admirable spirit and cheerfulness under trying circumstances.

CAVALRY.

MILITARY CROSS.

M'Donald, Lieutenant Arthur Ian. Gaz. 20/9/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in charge of a special mission. He showed great ability and coolness in extricating his party when a superior force of the enemy tried to cut him off, and brought back his party complete.

M'Donald, Lieutenant John Malcolm. 9th Australian Light Horse Regiment. (Egypt). Gaz. 7/3/19.

On the 20th September, 1918, when the brigade was advancing from Lejjun to Jenin, a number of the enemy were observed in bivouac in a wood. He, with two troops, galloped round to the rear of the enemy, and with the sword drove them out into the open, where the entire force, numbering 1800 men, 200 mules, 200 horses, and a number of donkeys surrendered. He showed great dash and initiative, and set a fine example to his men.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

MacDonald, 19 Corporal J. M. Gaz. 2/6/16

For conspicuous gallantry on several occasions, notably when he dressed wounded men during a heavy bombardment. He has been twice wounded while carrying out his duties.

Macallister, Lieutenant Andrew Gardiner. Gaz. 28/12/17.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

M'Donald, 1455 Sergeant-Major A. E. Gaz. 28/12/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in action. When the battery was being heavily shelled, he was, although suffering from shell shock, continually in the open, passing orders, and by his courage and splendid example under heavy shell fire, greatly encouraged the men working at the guns.

M'Entyre, 3412 B. Sergeant-Major K. W. C. 3rd A. Brigade. Ammunition Column. Gaz. 31/12/18.

For marked and consistent gallantry, ability, and devotion to duty during the period 25th February, 1918, to 16th September, 1918. In handling the supply of ammunition he has behaved in a most exemplary manner. His courage and cool determination in overcoming obstacles in the course of carrying out his duties under heavy shell fire have always set a most excellent example to the men under his charge.

MILITARY CROSS.

Donaldson, Lieutenant (T./Captain) George Frederick Seyler. Gaz. 3/6/19.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

Donaldson, 1186 Sapper R. C. Gaz. 22/9/16.

For conspicuous gallantry during operations. Sappers Donaldson and Lane repeatedly passed through the enemy's heavy barrages in order to lay and repair cables, thus maintaining communication at a very important period.

M'Donald, 16085 Squadron Sergeant-Major L. W. 1st Field Squadron. Gaz. 31/12/18.

For general good service. He has given very considerable assistance both as Quarter-Master Sergeant and Squadron Sergeant-Major. He has shown exceptional energy in assisting to keep up the standard of efficiency of the squadron in spite of the large number of untrained sappers and drivers sent to this unit. He handles the men tactfully and well, and the discipline of the unit is due very largely to his energy.

INFANTRY.

ORDER OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

M'Coll, Major (T./Lieutenant-Colonel) John Thomas, M.C. Officer of the Military Division. Gaz. 31/12/18.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER.

M'Donald, Major John Hinwood, M.C. Gaz. 31/1/19.

On the 31st August, 1918, during the attack on Mont St. Quentin, he advanced alone against an enemy machine gun nest, silencing two guns which were causing casualties and capturing the crews. On arrival at the objective, he rapidly reorganised and consolidated, reconnoitring the whole battalion front under heavy fire. Later he personally directed a withdrawal in a most skilful manner and under very severe enemy fire, establishing himself in an admirable position with few casualties. Throughout he showed conspicuous gallantry and powers of leadership.

MILITARY CROSS.

Donald, Lieutenant William. 16th Battalion. Gaz. 14/2/19.

For gallant conduct and devotion to duty as signal officer during an attack made on Le Vergieur, North West of St. Quentin, on September 18th, 1918. On hearing that an important line had been cut, he went with a runner to the scene of the trouble and repaired the line. This necessitated him going through an enemy barrage and guiding his way in unknown country in pitch black darkness.

Donaldson, Lieutenant George Shirley. Gaz. 24/9/18

M'Coll, Captain John Thomas. Gaz. 11/1/16.

M'Donald, Lieutenant Cecil Jack. Gaz. 20/9/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. This officer led the platoon of which he was in command in an operation against the enemy's position, with great gallantry and skill, capturing his objective and holding it against five counter attacks. When the officer commanding the other attacking platoon was wounded, he took command of both platoons and organised the defence. It was mainly owing to his courage and determined leadership that the position was held against all the attacks of the enemy.

M'Donald, Captain John Hinwood. Gaz. 15/6/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led his company in the most gallant manner and was largely responsible for the success of the operation. He set a fine example to his men.

M'Donald, Lieutenant John Wilson. Gaz. 17/4/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during a raid on the enemy's trenches. In spite of intense fire he made repeated attempts to enter the enemy's trenches and at last succeeded in forcing an entry at another point. He had previously done fine work.

M'Donald, Captain Keith Gordon. Gaz. 25/5/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. On his own initiative he attacked and captured a farm which had been taken by the enemy, thereby saving a critical situation. He has on many previous occasions done fine work.

M'Intyre, Lieutenant (T./Captain) Gilbert Langdon. 40th Battalion. Gaz. 31/1/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty at Clery on 29th/30th August, 1918. His company met with stiff opposition, several strong points were rushed, garrisons and machine guns being captured. Out of the main post the assaulting troops captured the Commandant of Clery with 59 prisoners and two machine guns. He was always in the thick of the fighting.

M'Intyre, Lieutenant John. Gaz. 24/11/16.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led a successful raid on the enemy with great courage and skill, capturing two prisoners.

M'Intyre, Captain Kenneth Malcolm Grant. 28th Battalion. Gaz. 7/3/19.

He showed great dash and fearlessness during the attack on the Beaufort Line on the 3rd October, 1918. A strong point containing three machine guns and crews offered a stubborn resistance, and without hesitation he rushed it, and with his revolver killed two enemy officers and forced the remaining garrison to surrender.

M'Intyre, Quarter-Master and Hon. Captain Sidney Lewis. Gaz. 3/6/18.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

M'Allister, 5151 Corporal C. Gaz. 29/10/18. ...

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in an attack. He led his men with great dash and kept touch with the flank company, filling up gaps which several times formed in the line. During consolidation when a strong enemy party were seen working forward to a post in front of the line, he led an attack against them dispersing the party and inflicting many casualties. His coolness and courage were an example to all about him.

M'Coll, 1153 Company Sergeant-Major (T./R.S.M.) T. H., M.M. 2nd Battalion. Gaz. 2/9/18.

For consistently good work and devotion to duty from 25th February to 16th September, 1918. As C.S.M. and R.S.M. he has performed his duties in a most capable manner. He is a keen soldier and a good disciplinarian. In action his conduct is of the highest order and his example is a fine incentive to the men of the Battalion.

M'Connell, 886 Sergeant (T./C.S.M.) J., M.M. 29th Battalion. Gaz. 3/12/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. When the platoon commander was badly wounded, he took command, although wounded himself, and handled the men with skill in a difficult situation. On being checked by machine gun fire from a flank, he personally went out to the flank with a machine gun, and by his fire drove the enemy back. He showed coolness and judgment throughout, and kept his men on the move forward.

M'Crory, 3204 Private R. F. 56th Battalion. Gaz. 30/5/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and consistent devotion to duty. He has been a stretcher-bearer with the battalion since its arrival in France. On the 1st October, 1918, he carried wounded from the open into the Hindenburg line under very heavy shell fire. Later he worked continuously attending the wounded at great personal risk.

M'Donald, 1592 Sergeant A. 17th Battalion. Gaz. 2/9/18.

In all operations since February, 1918, he has displayed marked gallantry and untiring devotion to duty. He has most ably assisted the Lewis gun Officer in the placing of the guns in the front line under very trying conditions. He has been largely instrumental, by his constant supervision, in the placing of guns, and the greatest possible effect being obtained with a minimum of loss.

M'Donald, 940 Sergeant F. Gaz. 22/9/16.

For conspicuous gallantry in repulsing an enemy attack when, his officer being wounded, he had assumed command of the platoon. He showed great bravery and fine powers of leadership, under heavy fire, in organising a counter-attack and in consolidating the position gained.

MacDonald, 3573 T./Corporal F. Gaz. 26/4/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. Although slightly wounded, he volunteered to accompany an officer on patrol. Later, although himself wounded a second time, he assisted in rescuing a wounded comrade.

M'Donald, 2178 Sergeant J. M. 9th Battalion. Gaz. 2/9/18.

From 25th February to 16th September, 1918, as battalion pioneer Sergeant he has displayed great courage and devotion to duty. During operations with the battalion he has been responsible for the delivery of ammunition to the front line and his untiring efforts in this connection have at times kept the outposts supplied at a critical time. On several occasions he organised carrying parties and voluntarily led them to the front line through heavy artillery barrages, and when stretcher-bearers were urgently required acted in this capacity on return journeys.

M'Donald, 2850 L./Corporal J. W. Gaz. 23/11/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when in charge of a Lewis Gun Section during an attack. He was wounded three times before the second objective was reached, but he kept his gun in action until wounded again and got it to the final objective when all the other teams had become casualties. He showed great courage and determination.

M'Donald, 6602 Corporal T. W. 50th Battalion. Gaz. 3/12/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. This N.C.O. led a fighting patrol under heavy fire and captured a hostile gun against heavy odds. The enemy then attempted to surround his party, but taking the attack in flank he captured fourteen prisoners and two machine guns. His determination led to this success.

M'Donald, 1157 Private V. G. R. 10th Battalion. Gaz. 2/6/16.

For conspicuous gallantry. He threw his greatcoat over a bomb and held it down till the bomb exploded, thereby probably saving several casualties.

M'Intyre, 3522 L./Corporal T. 26th Battalion. Gaz. 14/2/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during the attack east of Mont St. Quentin on the 2nd September, 1918, when he rushed a hostile machine gun, killing two of the crew. In the advance he followed the remainder of the crew, and so distracted the attention of the enemy that the rest of his party gained their final objective without serious opposition.

CAVALRY.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER.

Macdonald, Major Donald John. Gaz. 28/12/17.

Bar to D.S.O. Gaz. 22/6/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. In the attack launched by a Cavalry Brigade he led the reserve squadron of the regiment to the attack. Though suffering acute pain from a wound in the ankle, he continued to direct operations and led his men forward until the position was finally secured. But for his outstanding courage, skill, and dash the position could not have been held.

2nd Bar to D.S.O. Gaz. 11/10/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. This officer commanded the advance guard regiment of his brigade in an attack. He led his regiment with the greatest determination and with absolutely no regard for his own safety. It was largely due to his splendid leadership that the operation, which resulted in the capture of several miles of enemy territory and large numbers of prisoners and material, was entirely successful.

MILITARY CROSS.

MacDonald, Lieutenant Donald John. Lord Strathcona's Horse. Gaz. 24/8/15.

For conspicuous gallantry and ability near Festubert on 24th May, 1915. Although wounded in three places, he continued to lead his men with great dash in the advance to the attack on the enemy's position, and succeeded in entering their redoubt accompanied by two men.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

M'Alister, 115905 Sergeant A. Fort Garry Horse. Gaz. 14/2/19.

On October 9th and night of 9th/10th, 1918, about Maurois, he was commanding a troop in support during the attack on the Bois-du-Mont-Aux-Villes wood. He handled his troop splendidly, and on his own initiative charged a party of the enemy, cutting them off and capturing eleven prisoners and two machine guns.

MacDonald, 117037 Sergeant J. Gaz. 14/8/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He was the leading man of a party which attacked the enemy's outposts. He led the party with great coolness and gallantry, killing three of the enemy and compelling the surrender of the others. His splendid example contributed largely to the success of the enterprise.

M'Intyre, 110410 Sergeant M. 5th Battalion. Gaz. 14/1/19.

For conspicuous gallantry during the attack and capture of Bourchoir on 8th August, 1918. He showed great initiative and determination in handling the men under him. During the consolidation of the position, which was swept by heavy machine gun fire, he went forward with one man and captured the enemy machine gun besides three prisoners. His presence of mind and leadership inspired confidence in the men under him. He cannot be too highly commended for his gallant work.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER.

Donald, Major Alexander Stuart. 20th Battery, 5th Brigade. Gaz. 31/12/18.

M'Donald, Lieutenant-Colonel John Angus. Field Artillery, 3rd Brigade. Gaz. 1/1/17.

Bar to D.S.O. Gaz. 31/1/19.

For conspicuous gallantry on 2nd September, 1918, during the attack East of Arras. He went forward with his brigade in close support of the advancing Infantry. He reconnoitred positions for his batteries under heavy shell and machine gun fire, and set a splendid example by his personal disregard of danger and determination to push forward. The batteries went forward with great dash, and effective fire was brought to bear on many targets, including enemy strong points and hostile batteries. His skilful leadership and the work of the brigade gave the greatest confidence to the attacking infantry.

MILITARY CROSS.

M'Donald, Lieutenant Herbert Daniel. Gaz. 17/7/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. As forward observation officer his conduct and disregard for danger under fire was a wonderful example to the other officers of his battery and his work was consistently of the greatest value.

MacDonnell, Captain James M'Kerras. Field Artillery. Gaz. 1/6/17.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

Donald, 55 Bombardier F. Garrison Artillery. Gaz. 28/12/17.

For conspicuous gallantry, devotion to duty, and continuous good work in maintaining the telephone communication of his battery under the most trying circumstances. Always the first to undertake a dangerous task, he gave a fine example of courage, energy and efficiency.

Donaldson, 40330 Sergeant-Major J. W. A. 1st Brigade. Gaz. 3/8/15.

For conspicuous gallantry on the 22nd April, 1915, at St. Julien, and on the following days near Ypres, when, being in charge of the ammunition supply of the battery he kept up the supply under a continuous and heavy shell fire and gave a fine example of courage and devotion to duty.

M'Donald, 89279 Sergeant A. J. 5th Brigade. Gaz. 30/5/19.

On 12th October, 1918, he was taking up ammunition to a position between Iurey and Hordain. The roads were being heavily shelled and became blocked with casualties. With great coolness and ability he extricated his command from the column and worked his way through. As non-commissioned officer in charge of forward wagon lines he has done consistently good work.

M'Donald, 41176 B.S.M. A. K. Field Artillery. Gaz. 28/12/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty since the early part of the campaign. He has invariably displayed the greatest courage and resource in action and his fine example has always inspired the men under his charge with confidence.

M'Donald, 301289 Gnr. J. A. 9th Brigade. Gaz. 2/9/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty near Vis-en-Artois. On 1st September, 1918, his section commander and No. 1 were killed and one of his gun crew mortally wounded. He helped to carry the dying and wounded men to a sheltered spot, and then went back to his gun, and continued running it alone until assistance was detailed him. Though considerably shaken he continued at his work throughout the afternoon under heavy shell fire.

M'Donald, 85758 Corporal R. H. Field Artillery, 2nd Brigade. Gaz. 30/5/19.
He has carried out his work without a break always at the guns. His work on the Somme, 1916, Hill 70, Passchendaele, and Pont-du-Jour, near Arras, under heavy shelling was particularly good. He has consistently shown courage and devotion to duty.

MacInnes, 40217 Sergeant W. 1st Battalion Artillery. Gaz. 11/1/16.
For conspicuous gallantry. Sergeant MacInnes was gun layer during a heavy engagement. When the officer and senior non-commissioned officers had all been killed or wounded, he assumed command of his gun detachment and by his bravery and resource undoubtedly saved a critical situation. He has invariably shown great devotion to duty.

MILITARY CROSS.

M'Coll, Lieutenant John Rome. 11th Battalion. Gaz. 31/1/19.
 For conspicuous gallantry and initiative in making a reconnaissance of the Canal du Nord for the purpose of building Infantry Bridges across the canal on 4th September, 1918. He, with one runner, worked his way up to the canal bank in daylight and made sketches and plans for the construction of the bridges, and marked out a route for transport to be brought up. This reconnaissance was especially difficult owing to the opposite bank of the canal being manned by enemy snipers.
 Macdonald, Lieutenant James Campbell. Gaz. 11/1/16.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

INFANTRY.

VICTORIA CROSS.

M'Kean, Lieutenant George Burdon. Gaz. 28/6/18.

For most conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty during a raid on the enemy's trenches. Lieutenant M'Kean's party, which was operating on the right flank, was held up at a block in the communication trench by most intense fire from hand grenades and machine guns. This block, which was too close to our trenches to have been engaged by the preliminary bombardment, was well protected by wire and covered by a well protected machine gun behind it. Realising that if this block was not destroyed the success of the whole operation might be marred, he ran into the open to the right flank of the block, and with utter disregard of danger, leaped over the block head first on top of the enemy. Whilst lying on the ground on top of one of the enemy, another rushed at him with fixed bayonet; Lieutenant M'Kean shot him through the body, and then shot the enemy underneath him, who was struggling violently. This very gallant action enabled this position to be captured. Lieutenant M'Kean's supply of bombs ran out at this time, and he sent back to our front line for a fresh supply. Whilst waiting for them he engaged the enemy single-handed. When the bombs arrived he fearlessly rushed the second block, killing two of the enemy, captured four others, and drove the remaining garrison, including a hostile machine gun section, into a dug-out. The dug-out, with its occupants and machine gun, was destroyed. This officer's splendid bravery and dash undoubtedly saved many lives, for had not this position been captured the whole of the raiding party would have been exposed to dangerous enfilading fire during the withdrawal. His leadership at all times has been beyond praise.

ORDER OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

For valuable services connected with military operations in the field

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER.

Donaldson, Lieutenant-Colonel Anson Scott, A.M.C. Gaz. 3/6/18.
MacDonald, Major (A./Lieutenant-Colonel) Eric Whidden, M.C. Gaz. 1/1/17;
Bar to D.S.O. Gaz. 5/11/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and resource. He commanded his battalion in an advance, pressing his attack with skill and determination over a considerable amount of open ground, to the capture of isolated woods, the edges of which were full of concealed machine guns. The ability with which he made his dispositions undoubtedly saved many casualties. He set a fine example to his men which greatly helped in the success obtained.

2nd Bar to D.S.O. Gaz. 31/1/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. Before Arras, on 2nd September, 1918, the battalion commanded by him captured three villages, a switch trench line, and reached the west bank of a canal. Early in the day, before the attack, and again in the afternoon, he made personal reconnaissances over fire-swept ground, gaining first-hand information which enabled him to handle his men and direct the fire of his guns with remarkable success. His fine leadership, coolness, and disregard of danger carried his men along with him.

M'Donald, Major Harold French. Gaz. 14/11/16.

For conspicuous gallantry during operations. He carried out a dangerous reconnaissance under heavy shell fire, and after a shell splinter had blown off his arm, he reported the result of his reconnaissance before allowing the stretcher-bearers to remove him.

Macdonell, Major James Alexander. Gaz. 1/1/17.

MacIntyre, Captain Duncan Eberts. 28th Battalion. Gaz. 14/3/16.

For conspicuous gallantry when leading an assaulting party after personal reconnaissance. Having reached the enemy trenches, Captain MacIntyre, acted with great promptness, and later showed great coolness and presence of mind in the selection of a suitable line of retirement.

MILITARY CROSS.

Donald, Lieutenant Alexander George. Gaz. 22/4/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when in command of a raiding party. He led his men to the assembly position through a heavy gas shell bombardment. Finding that the enemy's wire was not sufficiently cut, he reconnoitred the wire, skilfully altered his dispositions, and led his men through a partially-cut gap in the wire into the enemy's trench. He at once attacked and captured a machine gun, killing the whole crew. His party then encountered and killed the personnel of a bombing post and, moving up a communication trench, destroyed two occupied dug-outs and captured a prisoner. He finally withdrew his party safely in intense darkness and under heavy fire. He showed the greatest coolness and daring, which were a splendid example to all ranks.

Donald, Lieutenant Robert Fulton Barber. 10th Battalion, Alberta Regiment. Gaz. 7/3/19.

For great courage and devotion to duty on 27th/28th September, 1918, East of Haynecourt. He worked unceasingly for 48 hours, under very heavy fire, delivering orders, aiding the companies in getting into new positions, and bringing forward small arms ammunition and bombs to the forward positions. Throughout he behaved admirably.

Donaldson, Captain Raymond. 85th Battalion, Nova Scotia Regiment. Gaz. 14/2/19.

For conspicuous gallantry during operations in front of Cambrai. On September 27th, 1918, during an attack on Bourlon Village, he reorganised his company, which had suffered considerable casualties, led them forward, and held the position on the eastern side of the village. Later when he was the only officer left, and when the left flank was threatened he led his company over ground swept by machine gun and shell fire and established advanced outposts in front of another important village. He showed able and fearless leadership.

Donaldson, Lieutenant Ronald MacKinnon. Gaz. 15/2/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led forward two platoons to reinforce the line, and finding that the leading company had suffered casualties, he took command and consolidated the position. He moved about along the line reorganising and encouraging his men under intense fire, and by his courage and example assisted materially in breaking up enemy counter-attacks.

M'Connell, Lieutenant Samuel Garfield. 50th Battalion, Alberta Regiment. Gaz. 31/1/19.

In front of Dury, during operations on 2nd/4th September, 1918, for gallantry and devotion to duty. His Company Commander being killed, although suffering from the effects of enemy gas, he reorganised and consolidated the captured positions under heavy fire. The day following he ably controlled his company throughout the advance despite severe shelling and finally brought his company out. His confident bearing and gallant conduct could not fail to have their influence on the very fine behaviour of his men.

MacDonald, Captain Alexander Edward. 1st Central Ontario Regiment (attached 3rd Battalion Canadian Infantry). Gaz. 31/1/19.

During the attack on Upton Wood, on 30th/31st August, 1918, he worked in the open, under heavy fire, attending to and dressing the wounded, remaining at his duty until all the wounded were cleared, in spite of the heavy shelling. On one occasion a shell fell close to him, killing two men and severely shaking him, but he at once pulled himself together and went on with his work. His gallantry and composure were most marked.

MacDonald, Captain (Acting Major) Eric Whidden, D.S.O. Gaz. 13/5/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. When in command of a raiding party he led it with such skill and energy that the hostile lines were successfully penetrated, valuable identification secured and considerable casualties inflicted on the enemy. The success of the enterprise was entirely due to the careful preparation, good training and organisation of all ranks which this officer had ensured.

M'Donald, Lieutenant Francis Ian. 5th Battalion, Saskatchewan Regiment. Gaz. 31/1/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty East of Hendicourt—Les Cagnicourt—Dury road, on September 1st, 1918. Shortly after a successful attack the enemy counter-attacked, forcing back our left flank company, and wounding the officer in command of it. He at once took charge, and under a hail of shell and machine gun fire, rallied the men, re-established the line, and captured about 60 prisoners. He was wounded in the hip by shrapnel, but on the way to the dressing station reported the situation to battalion headquarters. His coolness and confidence restored a critical situation.

M'Donald, Lieutenant Frederick Grant. 25th Canadian Battalion, Nova Scotia Regiment. Gaz. 29/11/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. This officer led his platoon with great dash, until his company commander was wounded, when he took command of the company, leading it to its final objective. The next day he led the company with skill and coolness, keeping it well in hand until he was wounded. His coolness under fire was an example to all ranks.

MacDonald, Captain Frederick William. 15th Battalion. Gaz. 27/1/20.

Macdonald, Lieutenant Geoffrey Ernest. Gaz. 28/12/17.

M'Donald, Captain George Cross, P.P. Canadian Light Infantry. Gaz. 15/2/17.

For distinguished service in the field.

MacDonald, Lieutenant Gladstone. 85th Battalion, Nova Scotia Regiment. Gaz. 2/4/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in front of Valenciennes, on 6th November, 1918. A very strong enemy machine gun garrison held up the company on his right flank. He at once manoeuvred his platoon round the left flank of the enemy, and was able to advance into such a position that, owing to heavy casualties they had to retire. Later in the day he led an attack resulting in the capture of three machine guns and nineteen prisoners. His personal courage was a splendid inspiration to all ranks with him.

M'Donald, Lieutenant James. British Columbia Regiment. Gaz. 5/11/18.

For conspicuous gallantry during a daylight raid. He led his party through two strong belts of wire and up a steep embankment, and entered the enemy's lines, obtaining a valuable identification before withdrawing his men without casualties. He showed splendid leadership and rendered valuable service.

MacDonald, Lieutenant James Ranald. Gaz. 15/2/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led his platoon to the capture of the first and second objectives, and when his company commander was wounded took command of the company. He was then wounded himself, but led his men to the final objective showing the greatest courage and energy throughout.

M'Donald, Lieutenant John. 78th Canadian Battalion, Manitoba Regiment. Gaz. 29/11/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. During the advance this officer's platoon was held up by a machine gun which caused numerous casualties. He led his platoon against the post with great dash and skill, and though wounded, carried on until the gun was put out of action.

M'Donald, Lieutenant John Alexander. Gaz. 24/11/16.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led his company with great courage and determination twice driving the enemy out of their trenches. Later he established a block and maintained his position through continuous fighting until relieved.

Macdonald, Lieutenant John Allister. Gaz. 1/3/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. While on patrol with three of his men he encountered a party of twenty of the enemy advancing to raid our trenches. In spite of the fact that his men were very lightly armed, he attacked the enemy party and drove them back to their trenches. This gallant and courageous action completely disorganised the hostile raiding party.

MacDonald, Lieutenant John Angus. Gaz. 14/11/16.

For conspicuous gallantry when leading a raid. He advanced down the enemy's trench in spite of opposition, accounting for five of the enemy in the trench and others in the dug-outs. He brought back useful information.

M'Donald, Lieutenant John Malcolm. 20th Battalion. 1st Canadian Ontario Regiment. Gaz. 13/9/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and resource in action when in command of the right party of raiding troops. By cool judgment and excellent leadership he managed to cut off a large party of the enemy who were endeavouring to escape by a communication trench, personally accounting for several, and taking the rest prisoners. By his great courage and personal example on all occasions, he inspired his men with his own confidence, and markedly furthered their keenness in operations.

Bar to M.C. Gaz. 10/1/19.

He rendered valuable services in command of headquarter details and the Scout section throughout the operations. When the line was held up he went forward under heavy fire with a Lewis gun and disengaged the flank, establishing outposts close to the enemy's position later in the day. The example of his courage and coolness was an inspiration to the whole battalion.

Macdonald, Captain John Welsford. 44th Canadian Battalion, Manitoba Regiment. Gaz. 29/11/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. When his company was held up by machine gun fire, he took a party and worked round to a flank, gaining a footing in the village. He fought hard, though isolated, until severely wounded by machine gun fire. He showed great courage and determination.

Macdonald, Lieutenant Norman Frederick. Gaz. 16/10/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. With his company he held a captured position for ninety-six hours against repeated and heavy hostile counter-attacks, and when enfiladed by a machine gun he crawled forward in daylight with splendid disregard of personal danger and located its exact position, after which it was destroyed by our artillery. When his Platoon Sergeant was completely buried, Lieutenant Macdonald dug him out under most intense shell fire with the greatest coolness and courage. During the whole of this trying period he got practically no sleep, preferring instead to encourage his men and reconnoitre the ground on his front.

Macdonald, Lieutenant (A./Captain) Robert Ross. Gaz. 28/12/17.

Macdonald, Lieutenant (A./Captain) Walter James, M.M. 44th Battalion. New Brunswick R. Gaz. 31/1/19.

Near Palluel, on the night of 3rd/4th September, 1918, he led a patrol consisting of one officer and twelve other ranks to obtain contact with the enemy posts near river crossings. He came under heavy machine gun fire, but proceeded in the task until enemy posts had been located. He succeeded in regaining our lines with information, although intercepted by a party of the enemy. He showed fine leadership, and inspired all ranks by his gallantry.

Bar to M.C. Gaz. 2/4/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and fine leadership at Denain on 20th October, 1918. When the brigade was held up on the outskirts of the town, Lieutenant Macdonald, who commanded a company, organised a minor enterprise, using medium trench mortar and Lewis gun fire in lieu of barrage. Leading his company forward with the greatest courage and determination, he cleared a farm, captured four machine guns and over fifty prisoners, and thus enabled the whole battalion to advance, breaking the enemy's hold on the village of Wavrechain.

M'Donell, Lieutenant (Acting Captain) William Charles. Gaz. 24/7/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. When in command of a trench mortar battery, he brought his guns into action with great skill and success, personally selecting the most effective gun positions and organising a plentiful ammunition supply. His gallantry and coolness under heavy fire whilst engaged upon a daring and successful reconnaissance were most notable.

M'Innes, Lieutenant James Edward, D.C.M., M.M. 47th Battalion. W. Ont. Regiment. Gaz. 2/4/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion in front of Valenciennes on 1st November, 1918. Although enemy machine gun and rifle fire was extremely heavy, he led his men forward over very open ground with the greatest courage. Encountering a trench manned by a large number of the enemy, which threatened to hold up the advance, he pushed forward, and single-handed, succeeded in capturing the whole garrison. Finally, when a neighbouring company had lost all its officers, he added it to his own command and successfully led both companies to the final objective. Throughout he showed the highest courage, and his splendid example contributed largely to the success of the operations.

MacIntyre, Captain Duncan Eberts, D.S.O. Gaz. 14/11/16.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He went forward under intense fire to ascertain the situation, displaying great courage and determination, and thereby obtaining most important information.

Macintyre, Lieutenant (A./Captain) John Donald. 24th Battalion. Quebec Regiment. Gaz. 10/1/19.

He was undefatigable in his efforts while in charge of a party evacuating wounded men from the field of battle, and his splendid example of cool gallantry under intense fire of all descriptions inspired the men he was commanding to their utmost efforts in spite of casualties. In one instance wounded were rescued from the enemy wire.

M'Intyre, Lieutenant Robert. Gaz. 15/1/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led his platoon with great skill in the attack, pressing forward in the face of heavy machine gun and rifle fire until severely wounded. He set a fine example of courage and leadership.

M'Intyre, Captain Robert Craig. Manitoba Regiment. Gaz. 7/3/19

While in command of a company during the attack on Cuvillers on 1st October, 1918, he showed great courage and able leadership. He led his company splendidly, and on reaching the final objective, he quickly reorganised his command. Finding that his left flank was in danger of envelopment he carried out a withdrawal with skill, being one of the last to leave the position.

M'Kean, Lieutenant George Burden, V.C., M.M. 14th Battalion, Quebec Regiment. Gaz. 31/1/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during an attack near Cagnicourt on September, 1st/2nd, 1918. As Scout Officer during two days heavy fighting, he with his scouts led the battalion forward and sent in accurate reports, and rallied men who had lost their officers. He was early wounded but pressed forward and entered Cagnicourt with three men, and observing a party of the enemy over a hundred strong retiring from the village, he dashed to a flank and headed them off and caused them all to surrender. Had these enemy troops been allowed to gain the high ground east of the village, they would have inflicted heavy casualties on our troops. He continued to send in reports until exhausted by loss of blood. His conduct throughout was magnificent.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

Donaldson, 104025 Sergeant J. S., M.M. Gaz. 12/11/18.

M'Donald, 13369 Sergeant A. Gaz. 16/11/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in charge of a convoy of ration wagons. After unloading under very heavy fire, as the ration party did not appear, he went to Battalion headquarters and led them down. Later, when the roads were congested and the shelling heavy, he released the held up traffic, thereby probably avoiding many casualties.

M'Donald, 129801 Sergeant A. 72nd Battalion. Gaz. 14/2/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during the operations near Dury, 1st/3rd September, 1918. In a counter-attack against the enemy he handled a section with fine dash and judgment, materially assisting in the capture of 100 prisoners. His work throughout was outstanding, and he set a very fine example of courage and determination to his men.

M'Donald, 223224 Sergeant A. D. Gaz. 28/3/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in remaining with his platoon although wounded in the arm. He was again wounded in the shoulder by shrapnel when going over the top, but assumed command of his platoon when his platoon Commander fell and carried them through to their objective. While establishing the line he was wounded for the third time and had to be carried back.

M'Donald, 715701 Private A. O. Gaz. 12/11/18.

M'Donald, 2129336 Private C. 27th Battalion. Gaz. 11/3/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty north off Cambrai on 3rd October, 1918. When one of our aeroplanes was crashed in our front line, the pilot being killed and observer badly wounded and the area subjected to heavy fire, he, with a display of great personal gallantry crawled over 200 yards to where the wounded officer was lying and succeeded in dragging him to a place of safety. He showed great courage and initiative.

MacDonald, 874664 L./Sergeant D. A. 27th Battalion. Gaz. 30/5/19.

For gallantry and devotion to duty. On the night 9th/10th September, after raiding an enemy post on the Canal du Nord, it was found that one of his comrades had been left behind wounded. He immediately returned alone to the enemy's lines under heavy machine gun fire and succeeded in carrying him back to our lines.

Macdonald, 29348 Company Sergeant-Major F., M.M. 16th Battalion. Gaz. 14/1/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty on 8th August, 1918, during the battle of Amiens. He worked strenuously in the attack, always in the thickest of the fighting, cheering on the men and leading assaults on strong points time after time. After several casualties he led a portion of the company on to the final objective.

Macdonald, 860 Sergeant J. Princess Patricia's L.I. Gaz. 3/9/15.

For conspicuous gallantry near Hooze Chateau on 8th May, 1915. When a front line of trench had been obliterated by shell fire, he dug out, under very heavy shell fire, two wounded men who had been buried. On the same day he carried a badly-wounded man on his back, and at the same time assisted another wounded man into safety under both shell and rifle fire.

MacDonald, 919462 Private J. A. 14th Battalion. Gaz. 14/1/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during an attack near Cagnicourt on September 1st/2nd 1918. He fearlessly carried the most important despatches continuously to and fro, through the open spaces undaunted, following the barrage up and through intense hostile fire of all description. Working throughout with remarkable endurance and untiring energy, he successfully delivered all his despatches under seemingly impossible conditions. Exposed at one time to open light artillery and machine gun fire, he rushed forward and assisted in the capture of the guns and killed three of the enemy with his bayonet. It is impossible to speak too highly of the extreme gallantry, initiative and daring displayed by him, who consistently throughout the entire operation displayed supreme devotion to duty.

M'Donald, 438909 Corporal L. Gaz. 24/7/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led a party against an enemy machine gun in an emplacement. He alone reached the dug-out and entering it from the rear, killed the crew and was himself seriously wounded.

M'Donald, 414158 Corporal R. 87th Battalion. Gaz. 11/3/19.

For most conspicuous gallantry and leadership at Bourlon Wood, 27th September, 1918, and Blecourt 30th September, Cambrai Sector. While approaching an enemy machine gun post his rifle was blown away by the explosion of a shell. Without any hesitation he led his section forward and rushed the post. With his fists he attacked the occupants, knocked out two, and held the remainder at bay until his section arrived and took the entire crew prisoners. South of Blecourt on the 30th, his officer was wounded. He assumed command and when his platoon was held up by another machine gun post he rushed forward alone and shot or disabled all the crew. He displayed most marked courage and determination.

MacDonald, 73677 Private S. Gaz. 14/11/16.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. When the N.C.O.'s of his section had become casualties he took command and carried on under heavy fire. Later he again took command of his section and protected the flank of a battalion with great skill and determination until he was severely wounded.

MacDonald, 415992 Sergeant T. 87th Battalion. Gaz. 2/9/18.

For gallantry and distinguished service 25th Feb. to 16th Sept., 1918. As platoon Sergeant he served in the front line in Lens, near Arleux, Mericourt, and Bailleul, and took part in patrols and raids on the enemy line, and served in the operations in front of Amiens, August 8th to 20th. He has consistently shown marked courage and able leadership and can always be depended upon.

M'Donald, 859675 Sergeant W. 43rd Battalion. Gaz. 30/5/19.

For gallantry and initiative. On the 22nd October, 1918, he took charge of a patrol to reconnoitre the east side of Escanpont. Coming under heavy fire he skilfully withdrew his men to safety. He carried out the remainder of the reconnaissance alone, doing his work thoroughly, under machine gun fire and bringing back valuable information.

M'Donell, 650 Company Quartermaster-Sergeant G. L. Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. Gaz. 11/1/16.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion when in charge of divisional headquarters transport, which were situated about 250 yards from headquarters billets. The stables were set on fire by shell fire. Company Q.-M. Sergeant M'Donell in order to save the horses, made four journeys from the billets to the stables, under very heavy shell fire. He succeeded in saving all the horses and other government property besides.

M'Innes, 629079 Sergeant J. E. Gaz. 16/11/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led his platoon with the greatest courage and initiative during three days severe fighting and although badly shaken by artillery fire, he continually placed himself at points of danger to organise the defence against continual enemy counter-attacks. His untiring energy and cheerfulness were invaluable in repelling the enemy.

M'Innis, 171173 Corporal J. Gaz. 16/11/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during a raid on the enemy's trenches. In order to support the assaulting troops it was necessary for him to get his Lewis gun into action in advance of the captured trenches. While moving into position his gun was damaged and two of his team were killed. He at once repaired his gun, got it into action without assistance, and inflicted heavy casualties on the enemy, at the same time screening his company against the danger of counter-attack. His courage and resource were a great factor in the success of the operation.

M'Intyre, 127610 A./Corporal A. 1st Battalion. Gaz. 11/3/19.

On 1st October, 1918, during the battle of Cambrai he displayed marked courage. He continued to advance until with the exception of one man his section had been wiped out. In the face of heavy machine gun fire he gathered together a few stragglers, organised them for the attack and then led them to the objective. By his fearless leadership he was directly responsible for the success of a certain part of the operation.

M'Intyre, 1003044 Sergeant E. R. 102nd Battalion. Gaz. 15/4/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and fine leadership on 6th November, 1918 east of Valenciennes. During an attack he assumed command of his platoon owing to his commanding officer becoming a casualty. At great personal risk he went out and found that his company was in great danger of being cut off. With the utmost skill and courage he managed to withdraw his platoon without casualties, and to make his disposition which enabled the position to be held until support arrived.

M'Isaac, 67947 Sergeant A., M.M. 25th Battalion. Gaz. 3/12/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. When his platoon was in support, seeing that the leading troops had suffered heavy casualties, he brought his men forward under heavy fire to their assistance and saved the situation, reorganising and consolidating the position. His personal dash and leadership were a great asset in the attack.

M'Isaac, 902010 Corporal A. 25th Battalion. Gaz. 11/3/19.

For marked gallantry and initiative during the attack on Escadocoeuvres in the early morning of the 10th October, 1918. During the advance when his company was held up by enemy machine guns, he rushed forward with three men and attacked the post, killing five of the enemy, capturing eight prisoners and two machine guns. His fine action enabled his company to advance to the objective.

MACHINE GUN CORPS.MILITARY CROSS.

Donald, Captain Herbert. Gaz. 7/3/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and good work near Blecourt, north of Cambrai, on 1st October, 1918. When in command of a machine gun battery, in the attack, he, by personal reconnaissance, was enabled to advance his guns safely, through heavy shelling, to a commanding position. When the enemy counter attacked in force, he quickly brought the fire of his guns to bear on them, thus covering the withdrawal of our troops from an impossible position.

Macdonald, Lieutenant Findlay Malcolm. 4th Battalion. Gaz. 31/12/18.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

M'Allister, 67235 Corporal C. 2nd Battalion. Gaz. 14/1/19.

Between the 26th and 28th August 1918, east of Cherissy, when his officer and all the other N.C.O.'s of his section were either killed or wounded and the men were much disorganised, he took command and rallied them and led them on to the objective and brought his guns into action. He then went across the open under intense machine gun fire and bandaged the wounds of his officers and several other men and carried them to the shelter of a trench. He displayed admirable coolness and complete disregard for danger and was a splendid example to all.

 Macdonald, Lieutenant-Colonel James Brodie Lauder. Gaz. 28/12/17.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

M'Donald, 2503085 A./Sergeant A. Gaz. 11/3/19.
 For gallant and distinguished service. He assisted the officer who reconnoitred the railway lines during the advance from 27th October to 11th November, 1918, between Somain and Mons. He daily made survey and plans of the railways and structures using instruments of precision with the utmost coolness under shell fire, and at times under machine gun fire. He did excellent work.

M'Donald, 279325 Company Sergeant-Major J. J. 8th Battalion. Gaz. 3/12/18.
 For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. While engaged on light railway work, the enemy suddenly opened an intense bombardment, which wounded five of his men and cut off two trains. He first rescued the wounded and got them under cover from the shell fire, then returned and repaired the broken track, but the two tractors of the trains were so badly damaged they could not work, so he and his party pushed the trains out of the shelled area. He then went on repairing the line, getting up material etc., under constant shelling with the utmost perseverance and determination.

Bar to D.S.O. Gaz. 10/1/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. This officer was in charge of the evacuation of the forward area, and showed great initiative in establishing dressing stations and collecting posts directly in rear of the advancing infantry. He kept in touch with the battalion and succeeded in evacuating the casualties almost as soon as they occurred, in spite of heavy machine gun and shell fire.

M'Kechie, Major David William. No. 6 Field Ambulance. Gaz. 29/11/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. While preparing an advanced dressing station in a village, it was subjected to an intense bombardment, but he remained at his post dressing the wounded and refused to take underground cover.

MILITARY CROSS.

M'Alister, Captain William Jonas. Gaz. 18/8/16.

For gallantry and devotion to duty in attending wounded under very heavy shell fire. Though blown up and badly shaken he continued his work which at all times has been splendid.

M'Donald, Captain (now T./Major) Ronald Hugh. Gaz. 17/7/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. One of our aeroplanes was shot down, the observer was wounded and pinned beneath the wreck. This officer and a bearer went out in full view of the enemy who were shelling the machine, and extricated the man and removed him to safety. He himself was severely wounded while doing so.

M'Kechnie, Captain Malcolm Archibald. Gaz. 5/11/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He worked with untiring perseverance in evacuating the wounded from the field of action, under heavy fire, until he was seriously wounded himself. It was largely due to his efforts and self-sacrifice that the casualties were so successfully and rapidly evacuated from the area.

MILITARY CROSS.

M'Alister, Captain Joseph Leo. Rifle Brigade. Gaz. 26/7/18.
For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty while commanding a company. He led two bombing attacks on an enemy sap with the object of closing a gap on his flank. His work was of a high order throughout.
His party captured five machine guns.

Macdonald, 2nd Lieutenant Alasdair. Otago Regiment. Gaz. 11/10/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in an attack. He led his platoon splendidly, bombing enemy posts, clearing saps and assisting the advance of the next platoon. In the enemy counter attack next day he was knocked down by the burst of a shell, but jumped on the parapet, followed by his men and rushed the enemy with bombs. He showed fine courage and brilliant leadership.

Macdonald, 2nd Lieutenant Murdo. Rifle Brigade. Gaz. 13/9/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led a silent raid against an enemy post, but was held up by machine gun fire, and had to withdraw. He then made a fine personal reconnaissance, reorganised his party and with great skill and determination again led them forward, rushing the post and capturing prisoners and two machine guns.

M'Donald, 2nd Lieutenant Stuart Gordon. Gaz. 1/6/17.

M'Isaac, 2nd Lieutenant Athol Richard. Gaz. 14/8/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He worked with the most untiring energy and determination for three days when in charge of a carrying party, whose duty it was to keep his battalion supplied with material from the brigade dump. It was necessary to make each trip under very heavy shell fire and it was due to his fine personal example that the supply was maintained.

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

MacDonald, 8/596 Private A. Otago Regiment. Gaz. 26/6/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He went out into No Man's Land in daylight with one man to reconnoitre a new enemy work which he had observed, and found five of the enemy holding a sniping post. He and his comrade at once attacked the post, killed one of the enemy and captured the remainder. He set a magnificent example of courage and initiative to his comrades.

ORDER OF THE INDIAN EMPIRE.

- Donald, John Stuart, Esq., C.S.I., Knight Commander. Gaz. 3/6/15.

The following names, although not strictly of Clan Donald, have nevertheless a clan connection, and as the information regarding these, was, in many instances, furnished voluntarily by the persons concerned, or their relatives, it was decided by the Committee to include the names.

The Committee desire to express their appreciation of the fact that there must be many thousands of people with Clan Donald connections, who might be considered to have the right of inclusion in the book. The wide ramifications of the Clan have made the collection of such names a task far beyond the scope of the present work.

Royal Navy.

ORDER OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

Donaldson-Hudson, Captain (T./Lieutenant-Colonel) Ralph Charles. Gaz. 1/1/17.

MILITARY CROSS.

Arnot, T./2nd Lieutenant Arthur Alison MacDonald. Gaz. 22/6/18.
 For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. While engaging hostile troops with bombs and machine gun fire he was attacked by a large number of enemy aircraft. He engaged hostile machines in a most gallant manner one of which he destroyed. On a previous occasion he shot down another enemy plane which fell in flames. During the last four months he has carried out offensive patrols at very low altitudes under adverse weather conditions with conspicuous skill and success.

DISTINGUISHED FLYING CROSS.

Walker, Lieutenant (A./Captain) John M'Donald. Gaz. 7/2/19.
 On 9th October, 1918, during an artillery patrol this officer was on two occasions attacked by eight and two Fokker biplanes in succession. Displaying marked courage and determination, he drove off these attacks and continued his patrol far into the enemy country, engaging troops and transport from a low altitude with bombs and machine gun fire. On another occasion when on patrol he was attacked by several enemy machines, which he drove off, and most successfully completed his patrol.

M'Leod, Major Norman Macdonald, M.C. Gaz. 28/12/17.

MILITARY CROSS.

Buchanan, 2nd Lieutenant (T./Lieutenant) James M'Alister. Gaz. 21/11/16.

Cumming, Lieutenant (A./Captain) Stuart Ferrier M'Donald. (Attached Y/19th T.M. Battery). Gaz. 9/12/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and fine leadership during the attack near Beiriches on 6th November, 1918, when supporting the Infantry advance in command of a section of mobile trench mortars. By daring forward reconnaissances he got his two guns up into action at close range and demolished strong points and machine guns. His coolness had an excellent effect on the work of his men.

M'Leod, Captain Norman Macdonald. Gaz. 25/8/16.

For conspicuous gallantry. When observing for his battery he came under fire of a party of the enemy at twenty yards range. He at once rallied the infantry around him, who were without an officer, and opened rifle and machine gun fire on the enemy.

Ramsay-Maitland, Lieutenant (A./Major) Keith Andrew.

Lieutenant (A./Major) Keith Andrew Ramsay-Maitland was the second son of Mrs. Ramsay-Maitland (Nee Teresa MacDonell of Keppoch). He was awarded the M.C. for "conspicuous gallantry" in action. He carried out a daring reconnaissance at great personal risk, the information obtained being of the utmost value. (Gaz. 11/11/16). He was subsequently awarded a bar to his M.C. for further gallant conduct and was killed in action, 4/10/17.

MILITARY ORDER OF AVIZ (PORTUGUESE).

Browne, Major Frederick Macdonnell. Gaz. 24/3/15.

MILITARY CROSS.

Mather, T./Lieutenant Ronald M'Alister. Gaz. 31/1/19.

For exceptional gallantry and coolness in action on 27th September, 1918, near Havrincourt. When all lines to battalion headquarters were broken he went forward under very heavy gas and shell fire and succeeded in restoring communications, which were urgently required at the time, all methods of visual signalling having failed owing to smoke and mist.

ITALIAN BRONZE MEDAL.

Carr-Harris, Lieutenant Gordon Grant Macdonnell. Gaz. 16/5/19.

INFANTRY.

THE ROYAL SCOTS (LOTHIAN REGIMENT).

MILITARY CROSS.

Loch, T./Captain Abram Donaldson. Gaz. 16/11/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when in command of a raiding party. It was largely due to him and to his initiative that a success was achieved in spite of heavy fire. He showed himself throughout quite regardless of personal danger and imbued all ranks under him with the same spirit.

Bar to M.C. Gaz. 7/3/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty from 28th September to 20th October, 1918, from Zillebeke to East of Courtrai. He was on battalion headquarters and was invaluable in carrying out orders. On two occasions he carried out personal reconnaissances in very advanced positions under heavy machine-gun fire and brought back valuable information. He also twice accompanied the leading wave in order to report progress of the attack. He set a fine example to all.

ROYAL SCOTS FUSILIERS.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER.

Shaw, T./Captain Archibald Douglas M'Innes. 1st Battalion. Gaz. 29/11/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and fine leadership in an attack. In thick fog he led the leading Company successfully through to the final objective. When his company was held up by machine gun fire from a trench, he personally led a bayonet charge and captured the trench with twenty prisoners. He then pushed on and captured 120 prisoners besides killing many of the enemy. The success of the operation was largely due to his marked courage and determination.

MILITARY CROSS.

Baird, 2nd Lieutenant Charles Donald. 2nd Battalion. Gaz. 26/7/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He commanded his platoon throughout nine days successive fighting and handled it during successive withdrawals with great coolness and ability. On one occasion, though first buried himself, he dug out several of his men who had been buried by shell fire.

2nd Lieutenant Baird's nephew, Lieutenant John Donald Baird, served with the R.N.V.R., was wounded, and afterwards transferred to the R.A.F. He was accidentally killed at Ilford, 8/5/18. Another nephew, Captain John Donald Dunlop, R.S.F., was awarded the Military Cross for his gallant conduct at the last battle of Cambrai. Gaz. 3/6/19.

ROYAL INNISKILLING FUSILIERS.MILITARY CROSS.

Hammond-Smith, Captain Macdonald Freer. Gaz. 2/5/16.

EAST LANCASHIRE REGIMENT.MILITARY CROSS.

Colvin, T./2nd Lieutenant John M'Donald. Attached E. Lancashire Regiment. Gaz. 5/11/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and fine leadership during an attack. He led his platoon right forward and consolidated his position, capturing three machine guns. He laid the foundation of the very fine advance made by the battalion. He did splendidly.

THE DUKE OF WELLINGTON'S (WEST RIDING REGIMENT).MILITARY CROSS.

Honeyman, T./2nd Lieutenant Walter M'Donald. Attached 9th Battalion. Gaz. 7/3/19.

For conspicuous good service on the 4th November, 1918, during an attack on Futoy. Whilst in command of the first line of the attack, seeing that the company on his left were being held up by machine-gun fire, he pushed forward with a Lewis gun section and outflanked the enemy position, thus enabling the advance to continue. Later when all officers in his company had been killed, he took command and gained his objective. Throughout he set a fine example of determined courage.

THE ESSEX REGIMENT.MILITARY CROSS.

Banks, T./Captain Thomas Macdonald. Gaz. 26/4/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led the left assaulting company in a most gallant manner, and succeeded in capturing his objective in spite of strong hostile opposition.

CROIX DE GUERRE (FRENCH).

Banks, T./Major (A./Lieutenant-Colonel) Thomas Macdonald, D.S.O., M.C. Gaz. 3/1/19.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE REGIMENT.

MILITARY CROSS.

Pierson, Lieutenant (A./Captain) John Eric Macdonald. Gaz. 11/5/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during a raid on the enemy's trenches. He, accompanied by another officer, with great personal courage reorganised the raiding party under very heavy fire. Later he effected a successful withdrawal under the most trying conditions.

THE DUKE OF CAMBRIDGE'S OWN (MIDDLESEX REGIMENT).

ITALIAN SILVER MEDAL.

Gould, Captain Robert Macdonald. Gaz. 10/9/18.

THE KING'S ROYAL RIFLE CORPS.

MILITARY CROSS.

Macdonald-Moreton, Lieutenant (T./Captain) Norman Charles Henry. 3rd Battalion. Gaz. 14/9/15.

For consistent good work in the trenches at Polygon Wood and Bellewarde Wood between 20th April and 14th May, 1915. On the nights of the 5th and 6th May he reconnoitred towards the enemy, and on the latter night discovering and giving warning of an attack. On 10th May when occupying the dam at Bellewarde Lake, after a six hours heavy bombardment, he repelled a German Infantry attack by the well directed fire of his Company.

Warner, T./Captain George MacDonald. 16th Battalion. Gaz. 1/1/17.
Bar to M.C. Gaz. 31/1/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty on the night of the 23rd/24th September, 1918, near Villers-Guislain. He led his company with dash until he was severely wounded in the right leg, when he remained with his men, lying on a stretcher encouraging them, although in great pain. His cheerfulness and endurance were a fine example.

MENTIONED IN DESPATCHES.

Macdonald-Moreton, Lieutenant (T./Captain) N.C.H. (Killed). Gaz. 1/1/16.

THE YORK AND LANCASTER REGIMENT.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER.

Pratt, Brevet-Major George M'Donald. Gaz. 3/9/15.

For conspicuous gallantry during an attack on Hooze on 9th and 10th August, 1915. He was first into the enemy's position and rendered his commanding officer great assistance in the front line fighting.

THE HIGHLAND LIGHT INFANTRY.

MILITARY CROSS.

Todd, Captain (T./Major) William Macintyre. Attached M. G. Corps. Gaz. 14/8/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He commanded his company with the utmost ability and resource, promptly changing the position of his guns to meet varying situations and contributing very largely towards the successful holding of a captured position. His work has been excellent on previous occasions.

MERITORIOUS SERVICE MEDAL.

Clark, 15140 Sergeant D. M'Intyre. Gaz. 30/5/19.

THE SEAFORTH HIGHLANDERS (ROSS-SHIRE BUFFS, THE DUKE OF ALBANY'S).

MILITARY CROSS.

Brotherton, 2nd Lieutenant Andrew Donaldson. Special Reserve. Gaz. 23/11/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He was severely wounded on the right thigh by a shell after making a reconnaissance. Knowing that it was essential that his report should be delivered he crawled back several hundred yards over ground swept by machine gun fire, but fainted before reaching battalion headquarters. When brought in he recovered consciousness and succeeded with great difficulty in delivering his report.

Cameron, T./Lieutenant Donald MacDonell. 8th Battalion, attached 1st Battalion (Mesopotamia). Gaz. 10/1/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He took charge of the Lewis guns of two companies who were holding a position dominated by the enemy. For over five hours he supervised the working of these guns with marked coolness, and by skilful handling knocked out an enemy machine gun which was causing many casualties. He then advanced with the two companies to the assault and during the barrage on the enemy's trenches proceeded close up, and covering with his revolver a number of the enemy, who were trying to escape, took them prisoners.

THE GORDON HIGHLANDERS.

MILITARY CROSS.

Henderson, 2nd Lieutenant James Macdonald. Gaz. 24/11/16.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led a raiding party through uncut wire into the enemy's trench, himself killing one of the enemy. He displayed great courage and determination throughout.

Bar to M.C. Gaz. 17/7/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He showed great skill and initiative in leading his men and later in taking command of another company. He reorganised both companies and consolidated the position under heavy shell fire,

THE QUEEN'S OWN CAMERON HIGHLANDERS.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER.

Martin, 2nd Lieutenant Norman. 3rd Battalion. (Attached 1st Battalion). Gaz. 7/12/15.

For conspicuous gallantry and determination near Hulluch on October 13th, 1915. During a bombing attack in a German communication trench one officer of the company was killed, another wounded, and three parties of bombers were all either killed or wounded. Second-Lieutenant Martin then commenced throwing bombs himself, after which he expended all the rounds in his revolver, and continued to fire with a rifle. It was largely due to his coolness and courage that the barricade was held till more bombers had been obtained.

PRINCESS LOUISE'S (ARGYLL AND SUTHERLAND HIGHLANDERS).

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER.

Porteous, Captain Dick MacDonald. 1st Battalion. Gaz. 15/4/15.

For conspicuous gallantry on many occasions throughout the campaign. His very great daring and total disregard of danger on reconnaissance duty, especially at St. Eloi on 19th February, 1915, were most noticeable.

MACHINE GUN CORPS.

MILITARY CROSS.

Chalmers, T./Lieutenant (A./Major) Archibald M'Donald. 41st Battalion. Gaz. 7/3/19.

For great courage and devotion to duty during the operations of the 21st/22nd October, 1918, near Avelghem. Whilst in command of a machine gun company, hearing that the advance had been checked, he made continued reconnaissances of the situation under heavy fire. He was thus enabled to alter the disposition of his guns and bring very effective fire to bear at critical moments. He did excellent work throughout.

THE LONDON REGIMENT.

MILITARY CROSS.

MacCormick, 2nd Lieutenant Ewen MacDonald. Gaz. 14/11/16.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He rallied his company with great courage and determination. He then went forward and reconnoitred the position, establishing two machine guns in advance of the line under very heavy fire.

ROYAL ARMY SERVICE CORPS.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER.

Beaumont, T./Major Kenneth MacDonald. Gaz. 11/4/18.

ARMY MEDICAL SERVICE.

MILITARY CROSS.

Gregg, T./Captain Norman M'Alister, M.B. Gaz. 20/9/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during a raid. He untiringly attended to the wounded under heavy enemy fire until the last man was cleared, and showed great coolness and devotion to duty. He worked persistently throughout the raid in the open, and searched for any wounded that might have been overlooked. He behaved splendidly.

Little, T./Captain Paul MacDonald, M.B. Gaz. 26/9/16.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He collected and tended the wounded under very heavy fire during three days and nights. He also went out under heavy shell fire and brought in two wounded stretcher-bearers, and was going out for two more when a shell fell and killed them both.

Bar to M.C. Gaz. 20/9/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in attending to wounded in the front line under heavy shell, machine gun, and rifle fire. His example of coolness and devotion to duty caused a large number of wounded to be successfully evacuated from the front line.

Wilson, T./Captain Donald M'Donald, M.B. Gaz. 24/8/17.

TERRITORIAL FORCE RESERVE.

ORDER OF THE WHITE EAGLE (SERBIAN).

Cornford, Captain Francis Macdonald. 4th Class. Gaz. 6/9/18.

Oversea Forces.

AUSTRALIAN IMPERIAL FORCE.

INFANTRY.

MILITARY CROSS.

Ellis, Captain Alexander Donaldson. Gaz. 5/3/18.

ARMY MEDICAL CORPS.

MILITARY CROSS.

Steele, Captain David MacDonald. Gaz. 14/11/16.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He tended the wounded under very heavy fire and trying conditions with great courage and determination. It was due to his organisation and skill that the wounded men were successfully evacuated.

Bar to M.C. Gaz. 15/1/18.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when in charge of the evacuation of the wounded from a whole divisional front during thirteen days' operations. On several occasions when it was impossible to bring casualties through by the existing route, he personally inspected the new line of evacuation on each occasion, and made admirable arrangements for getting them clear and avoiding further casualties.

Canada.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER.

Steel, Major Francis Macdonald. Gaz. 1/6/17.

Urquhart, Major Hugh Macintyre, M.C. Gaz. 17/7/17.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He showed remarkable tactical skill in preparing instructions for an attack, and when the attack had proved successful he displayed great coolness and bravery in selecting positions to be held and indicating action to be taken the whole time under very heavy fire. He rendered a full and complete report of the situation on his return to Brigade Headquarters.

Bar to D.S.O. Gaz. 10/1/19.

For distinguished service and gallantry on several occasions. He had the difficult task of taking the formidable positions of three woods, all of which he captured at the right time. He showed leadership and skilful handling of the highest order, and outmanoeuvred the enemy. On subsequent occasions he made daring personal reconnaissances, which resulted in complete defeat of the enemy. On the last enterprise he was severely wounded.

ARMY MEDICAL CORPS.

MILITARY CROSS.

Robb, Captain Wesley M'Connell. 1st Central Ontario Regiment (attached 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifle Battalion). Gaz. 31/1/19.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty on the Scarpe front from 26th/29th August, 1918. Shortly after zero his advance dressing station was blown in by shell fire. Though dazed and partly buried, he immediately dug his orderly out. He then followed the battalion in the attack, organising stretcher squads from prisoners, and evacuating serious cases with the least possible delay. He several times attended serious cases in the firing line.
