This Roll is issued by the War Memorial Committee. It has been prepared by the Rev. James Murray, with the invaluable assistance of Mr W. L. Walker. It has proved a task of considerable trouble and difficulty, and, notwithstanding all the care taken, it may well be that errors and omissions may yet be discovered. If a note of these is sent to the compiler the necessary alterations will be made in the official copies to be publicly preserved.

It should be explained that it does not profess to cover the whole parish. It was found impossible to obtain a complete list of the Clune Brae district, in the neighbourhood of Port Glasgow, and, accordingly, it was thought better to omit it altogether. Moreover, it includes the names of some formerly resident in the parish, who feel that they still belong to it, and desire on this occasion to claim their citizenship.

The Roll contains 438 names, of which no fewer than 77 are in the list of the honoured dead.

The sketch of the Memorial Cross has been reproduced from a drawing by the architect, Mr James Austin Laird.
